LANGDON COMES OUT FOR RYAN FOR MAYOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—District Attorney Langdon today announced that he is going to support and vote for Daniel Ryan for Mayor.

Ryan and Langdon are close personal and fraternal friends.

Both are members of the Native Sons of the Golden West and other fraternal organizations.

MONEY BEING TAKEN FROM LARGE BANKS

Heavy Withdrawals of Money Worry New York Bankers and Clearing House Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The most favorable sentiment in business and banking circles resultant from yesterday's changes in various bank managements, and the promises of support made by the Clearing House Association received something of a setback today when it became known that the debit balance of the Mercantile National Bank at the Clearing House was $1,000,000. The debit balance of the National Bank of North America was $850,000. These figures indicated that heavy withdrawals from the two banks were being made, and the totals were referred to by one member of the Clearing House as "unexpectedly large and disconcerting."

It was announced that in a short time, however, that the Clearing House Association would extend assistance to the Mercantile and National Bank of North America.

NEW PRESIDENT SAYS.

Seth M. Milliken, the newly-elected president of the Mercantile National Bank, said today that counting out the Heinze-Morse loans, the assets of the bank are one dollar and forty cents for every dollar of liability and that the loans in question are of value.

Stocks today opened stronger and higher, all the market leaders participating in the rise.

Sunday's meeting of bank presidents succeeded in finally eliminating the Heinze, Morse and Thomas interests in certain of the Clearing House banks.

QUEEN CRISTINA GOES ON CRESCENT CITY ROCK

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Crescent City, Calif., Oct. 21.—The British freight steamer Queen Cristina struck on North Sea rocks, eight miles northwest of this place at 1:30 a. m. today. Sixteen members of the crew reached here in boats at 10:45 this morning and sixteen others landed on the rocks. There are four fathoms of water around the steamer. When the crew left the vessel her pumps were still going and her bulkhead was holding. She will prove a total loss. The steamer Navarro left here at noon for the scene of the wreck. It is

FOOTPADS BEAT AND ROB VICTIM

They Hold Him Up With a Revolver on Dark Street.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Charles Hollcraft, who is employed at the What Cheer house on Montgomery street, was taken to the Central Emergency Hospital at 2 o'clock this morning suffering from severe wounds of the head and face, which he says he received through being held up and beaten by two men at Sixth and Folsom streets, while he was on his way to his room at the St. George hotel.

Hollcraft can give no description of the men, but says that they sprang from the darkness of a doorway and placing a revolver at his head, relieved him of $4.50 in cash and then, angry because he did not have more, beat him over the head with the butt end of the weapon. He was later removed to his home.

MRS. TALBOT SHOWS STRAIN

She and Her Husband Exchanged Sly Glances in Court Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Only twenty minutes of the court's time was occupied this morning in the suit for divorce of William H. Talbot in Judge Sewall's court. The hearing then went over until tomorrow morning to enable the attorneys for the plaintiff to submit a supplementary complaint.

During the hearing this morning Mr. Talbot and his wife sat each in a corner at the extreme end of the court room opposite each other. There was no sign of recognition between them, but each,

PHYSICIAN TELLS HOW GLOVER MET HIS DEATH

District Attorney Everett Brown in Action at the Scully Murder Trial, and Olive Scully, Whose Life Hangs in the Balance.

Things are slowly but surely getting down to the fine point in the murder trial of Olive Scully, which was continued in the Superior court this morning, directly after the hearings of the regular criminal calendar. The prosecution, in command of District Attorneys Brown and Hynes, are reaching the completion of their net of evidence which they have been weaving about the prisoner, mesh by mesh. Walsh, Allen and Greely, attorneys for the defense, are watching the proceedings closely, tripping the unfortunate witnesses wherever they can, and jolting down points which they undoubtedly will attempt to tear asunder when their innings come.

The testimony of Dr. O. D. Hamlin, chief physician of the Oakland Receiving Hospital, which occupied the entire morning session, described minutely the manner and causes by which James Glover, then deputy county clerk, met his death after having been blinded and stunned by a glass of sulphuric acid thrown into his face by the defendant.

SEEK OTHER CAUSES.

The defense, while not attempting to question the accuracy of the statements of Dr. Hamlin, nor to depreciate his ability as a physician, are striving valiantly to obtain from him an admission that Glover was not only a confirmed alcoholic, but was suffering from one of the most insidious and dreadful diseases known to mankind. GIRL TRIES SUICIDE

Man Was Crazy By Wounds Received From Some Footpads

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Either through jealousy caused by the attentions lavished upon his companion, Marie Axton, or through despondency caused by long illness, Frank V. Gray, a piano player for Casserly's saloon, committed suicide at 4:45 this morning by shooting himself through the head. His companion, who was in the room with him at the time, was so wrought up over the incident that she has to be closely watched as she fears her from doing harm to herself.

Gray and the woman left Casserly's saloon about 3 o'clock, going directly to the house on Eddy street. The woman retired immediately while the man said he desired to read the newspaper for awhile. The next thing she heard, the woman says, was a revolver shot, which woke her up, and she found her companion lying in a pool of blood.

CALL FOR HELP.

Nervously she knocked on the wall to arouse someone in the adjoining room, hoping that some one would summon an ambulance. Falling in this she rushed in the street attired as she was and running to the Frog saloon on Franklin street, told the porter to summon an ambulance, and returned to the house. She found that the other occupants of the house were up and the hospital authorities had already been notified.

TRIED TO KILL HERSELF.

When the woman realized what had taken place, she attempted to take a dose of chloroform, but was restrained. She was in a hysterical condition and it was deemed advisable to take her to the hospital and place her in the detention ward.

Gray and the woman were known at the Eddy-street house as Mr. and Mrs. McHenry. Gray is about 30 years and has no relatives in this State. Detective L. E. Butler, who has been working on the case, has practically decided that the case is purely one of suicide. The pistol used was a .38-caliber and the shot was fired through the head just above the ear, the bullet emerging on the opposite side.

Fish and Harriman HOLD FIGHT ON PROXIES OVER UNTIL DECEMBER

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Stuyvesant Fish early today secured a postponement of the Illinois Central stockholders' meeting until December 15th. The Harriman people agreed to the adjournment although they had previously been anxious to push matters as rapidly as possible.

The decision to adjourn the meeting was the result of a conference held at 3 o'clock this morning between William Nelson Cromwell for Mr. Harriman and Judge E. H. Farrar for Mr. Fish.

The overtures came from Mr. Cromwell, who sought out the Fish people and declared that he wished to come to some sort of an agreement. He was informed by Judge Farrar that the only agreement that could be reached was to accept the terms of Mr. Fish, which would be the adjournment until December 15th, and a decision of court. If the Harriman people so decided, to determine the right to vote the 286,718 shares of stock against which a temporary injunction was issued by Judge Ball one week ago. After an extended conference Mr. Cromwell assented.

The following agreement was signed by Mr. Cromwell and Judge Farrar:

COMPLETION OF FORD JURY SEEMS IMPROBABLE BEFORE TOMORROW

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—With one man still lacking to fill the jury box and no peremptory challenges used, the morning session of the Ford trial ended. Three of the temporary jurors secured last week were excused this morning. Jurors Liebert and Blair were challenged on the ground that they were not on the assessment roll. Juror Lazarus asked for and obtained his dismissal from the jury on the ground that the work was expected to arrive at his home very shortly. When this fact was made known, both sides agreed to the juror's release.

Captain Andrew E. Smith, a son of Neptune, and J. E. Freeman, a traveling salesman, were accepted to fill two of the vacancies.

Four of the jurors were excused on the grounds of illness. Charles A. Warren, a contractor, who was excused shortly before the morning session ended, created some amusement by declaring that he would not believe the boozing supervisors under oath and that it would take a shotgun to remove his opinion that the old board of supervisors was bribed. He was excused without further question.

WRANGLE OVER ASSESSMENTS.

Wrangling over the assessment roll consumed a large part of the morning. Assistant District Attorney O'Garra produced a list of the jurors on the present panel which showed that several of those in the box were not on the roll. John R. Jenkel, one of the jurors, was challenged on this ground, but after a long wrangle, in which Rogers, O'Garra, Heney and Stanley Moore shot their shafts of satire and quoted lengthy and obscure decisions, an investigation of the roll revealed that Jenkel's name was on the roll and that he had been paying taxes in San Francisco for the past twelve years.

When court convened this morning it was expected that the fifteen peremptory challenges of the defense and prosecution would be used at once and that before night the jury would be completed. When O'Garra sprang the next tax list it was considered in the light of an obstructionist move. Judge Lawlor sharply admonished both sides not to proceed further with the waste of time after the argument over Jenkel had lasted over the better part of an hour.

CHOICE IS DELAYED.

It is now the general impression that the jury will not be completed until tomorrow night, and possibly not until Wednesday unless more expeditiousness than that shown this morning is used.

It is expected that at least five of the present eleven jurors will be dismissed in the peremptories and possibly more.

The stand by the prosecution if it is possible to do so is the impression that is gaining ground. In each and every case the matter of circumstantial evidence is paramount connected with the examination conducted by Heney. It was noted with Detective William J. Burns, whose Manhattan owl on his hipside appendage was as winsome as ever.

Farrar called upon an early arrival and the remainder of the array of attorneys for the defense were present.

Owing to the fact that Juror Lazarus' wife is seriously ill, upon this showing he was excused by both the prosecution and defense as soon as court convened this morning. Judge Lawlor stated that under the circumstances the juror could be excused until further notice and instructed Clerk Martin Welsh to draw another name from the jury box.

Captain Andrew E. Smith, who served of the sea and testified that he had given up the sea only three years ago, was called.

"If it was testified that the district attorney had granted immunity would that interfere with your verdict, Captain?" asked Heney.

"Sure not," said the juror in a forthright voice which could be heard throughout the great auditorium of the Jewish temple.

Unlike all the preceding jurors, whose voices could scarcely be heard by the Plans of the Standard Oil Lawyers to Evade Paying $29,240,000 Fine.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Plans for the tremendous effort that will be made by attorneys for the Standard Oil Company to have the $29,240,000 fine imposed by Judge Landis wiped out by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals were disclosed yesterday.

Twenty-five main points, each one of which their attorneys will argue is sufficient to have the record broken fine declared void, will be advanced when the case comes to trial.

FIGHT MANIAC FOR THEIR LIVES

Raving Man Sinks Teeth in Hand of Hospital Attendant.

Lodgers in the Eureka House, Alameda, were alarmed at 4 o'clock yesterday morning by a series of demonic yells, curses and shrieks, the crashing of furniture and window glass and a reverberant sound which convinced them that the house was tumbling to the ground. They rushed to the first floor of the hotel, where they found John Peterson, a huge Swede, engaged in a mad struggle with the proprietor and four or five attendants.

BATTLE FOR LIVES.

Peterson, who has been a lumberjack in the Washington woods, arrived from Seattle only a day or two ago. He retired Saturday evening in normal condition, but awoke about 4 o'clock a raving maniac. After reducing the contents of his room to splinters Peterson grappled with the fellow-lodgers who had come to the room, and gave them the battle of examining attorney, the captain's tones echoed in a way that made the court smile with pleasure. Henry inquired if the captain had any opinion in the case, to which he replied he knew nothing about it. He had no acquaintance with United Railroad officials and gave satisfactory answers to all questions. "We pass the juror," said Henry.

HAS NO OPINION.
"So you have been going to sea for some time?" asked Rogers.
"For about twenty years."
"And what vessel were you on last?"
"The John A. Campbell."
"And have you any opinion on this case?"
"No, I have none."

"Haven't taken any side in the industrial troubles in which the United Railroad have been involved?"
"No, I haven't."

"Belong to any secret organizations or clubs?"
"Well, I am a member of the Captains' Union, which was formed before I quit going to sea."

It developed that the captain had been putting up two apartment houses and had no time to think of the graft cases.

"You have mentioned circumstantial evidence. Now do you understand what that means?" Rogers questioned.

"Yes, I knew it would have to be strong and convince me that the defendant was guilty."

"Have you taken any part in this so-called prosecution?"

"No, if it appeared that this immunity was granted by Rudolph Spreckels, a private citizen, and that this immunity was granted with the understanding that they were to remain in office, would that influence you?"

"No, sir."
"It wouldn't?"

"No, sir."

"Do you mean to say that the testimony of a man who received immunity from one private citizen could be relied on to testify against another private citizen?"

"Yes, I have none."

This list the name of Juror Jenkel was missing. Jenkel, however, stated that he had been in business for himself before and after the fire and had paid taxes. Deputy County Clerk Levy, who had made up the list, was then called and sworn. He stated that the list had been prepared from the index in place of the assessment roll itself.

SPECKELS IN COURT.

Rudolph Spreckels, present for the first time during the present trial, sat at the prosecutor's table and held long whispered conferences with Henry, whose mustache caught the eye of the court.

Judge Lawlor grew impatient at the length of time consumed by pointless arguments between the attorneys on the opposing sides. He sharply rebuked them for their waste of time. Byington told Judge Lawlor that it was necessary to make due the defense than the prosecution.

"I do not mean to criticize either side," replied the court, "but I object to the useless waste of time."

It was finally decided that Jenkel should be sent to his store after his tax receipt, to prove that he was on the roll.

In order to save time it was decided to examine two more jurors while Jenkel was away. When court convened attorneys for the defense expressed the hope that the jury would be secured and sworn before night, but when the next point of the assessment roll came up it was at once conceded that it would be impossible to complete the jury before tomorrow.

Joseph Hall, a contractor, was next called to be examined for one of the vacant places. Henry's questioning was brief. When it developed that Hall had no opinion, no prejudices against the prosecution, no leaning one way or the other, Henry promptly passed him. Rogers sought to learn what kind of an opinion Hall had at times expressed, but the jurymen claimed that he was unbiased.

TALKED WITH BROTHER.

"But you have discussed the case, Mr. Hall," asked Rogers.

"Well, yes."

"And you have expressed an opinion on the matter?"

"Well, yes."

"And being a positive man, you expressed a positive opinion?"

"No."

"Whom did you talk with about this?"

"And did you talk to him long?"

"I don't mean what would be long for Mr. Henry or myself, but what would be long for me."

"Well, not very long."

"But you would have expressed a strong opinion if you could have found words to express your thoughts?"

"Well, no, I found lots of words."

"But you had to grope around after them awfully hard, didn't you?"

"No, I didn't."

Further questioning revealed the fact that the juror believed the supervisors and Rogers challenged Henry contested the challenge. The juror asked a few questions. He soon brought forth the fact that Hall could not convict on circumstantial evidence and with Henry's rapidity Henry withdrew his denial of the challenge, and the laugh raised at his expense was at once quelled by the court.

Hall was then excused and the examination of Aurelio Barsotti, a dairyman, proceeded.

HAS TAX RECEIPT.

At this point Juror J. J. Jenkel returned with his tax receipt, showing that he had paid his taxes this year and therefore must have been on the assessment roll. The receipt was introduced in evidence. Judge Lawlor then ordered the usual 5-minute morning recess.

After the recess Alexander C. King, "Johnny" former law partner, arose and said that he had just returned from the assessment office and that the name of Jenkel was on the roll.

"Has any one talked to you about this case since being summoned as a juror, Mr. Barsotti?" asked Henry.

"No."

"Have you any opinion in the case?"

"No."

"Ever discuss it with any one?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know what circumstantial evidence means?"

"Yes, sir."

"What does it mean?"

"That the evidence shows the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

"Do you know what immunity means?"

"Yes, sir."

"Could you return a verdict on circumstantial evidence?"

"Yes, if it were strong enough."

WOULD BE IMPARTIAL.

Barsotti stated that he had never met any of the United Railroad officials and that he was satisfied that he could act impartially. Henry passed him and Stanley Moore examined for the defense.

"Are you a married man?" asked Moore.

"Grown children?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know Mr. Henry?"

"Never saw him before."

"Do you know any of those connected with the prosecution?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know any of the former supervisors of the United Railroad?"

"No, sir."

"And you say you have no opinion in this case?"

"No, sir."

"And you say you have never discussed the case?"

"That's right."

"Would you weigh the evidence carefully and give a fair verdict?"

"Yes, sir."

"What papers do you read?"

"I read 'The Daily News'."

LACKS ENGLISH.

After a few more questions Moore passed him. O'Gara questioned him regarding his ability to read English and Barsotti stated that he could read it only with great difficulty. On this point O'Gara stated to the point to the court that he did not think the juror could be of much use. He was excused to act as a juror and on this ground interposed a challenge.

Moore denied this and submitted the question to the court. Judge Lawlor excused Barsotti on the ground of his imperfect knowledge of the language. Two more jurors were examined. Mayor Cahn, a manufacturer, was then sworn. "Are you acquainted with the defendant, Henry?" asked Henry.

"No, sir."

"Do you know Calhoun, Mulhally or Aylmer?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know Abe Rueff?"

"No, sir."

"How long have you known him?"

"A number of years."

He stated that he knew Charles W. Holbrook, vice-president of the United Railroad, who had erected a building for Cahn's company.

"The defendant has been toward the United Railroad, don't you?" asked Henry.

"I do."

Further questions developed the fact that Cahn would not believe any of the statements made by the defendant. He was challenged for cause and excused.

George W. Haase, a retail candy dealer, was then examined.

He testified that he had a slight acquaintance with Dr. Coffey of the United Railroad, but that he did not know him well. He would not interfere with his verdict. He stated, however, that he had an opinion with regard to the case, but that he would not prevent him from acting impartially. He was challenged for cause by Henry and excused.

Freeman, a salesman in a millwright house, was then called. He expressed himself as being free from bias and had never discussed the case. He was challenged for cause and excused.

Freeman's old stamping ground was being satisfied that he could bring in a verdict on circumstantial evidence, provided the evidence was strong enough. He thought he could credit the testimony of the bookkeeping supervisors. Henry passed him.

"Mr. Freeman when you came from Prescott, Ariz., did you understand you say what was going on?" asked Henry.

"A mail carrier."

"Some of the fifty so-called prosecutors, but the juror merely stated that he had no opinion as to whether he could act fairly and impartially."

TO SETTLE DISPUTE.

At this point the examination was interrupted and Tax Collector James F. Nichols called to the stand. It was then agreed that the defense and prosecution should each name one representative to have authority to go to the Tax Collector's office and learn for any name in dispute. Freeman's examination was then resumed by Rogers.

"Some reference has been made to the subject of immunity and you say you could take that in connection with other evidence."

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know Mr. Spreckels?"

"No."

"You don't know Mr. Rogers, do you?"

He broke in Mr. Henry's understanding he was once in Arizona and had known him.

"Pass the juror," said Rogers.

The next witness to be examined was Charles W. Haase. He stated he had heard much about the case, but that he had no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

"Have you any opinion as to whether or not the supervisors were bribed?" asked Henry.

"Yes, I have."

"It would take evidence to remove it, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, more than evidence."

"This is a fixed opinion."

"Couldn't remove it to try this case?"

CONTEST CHALLENGE.

Henry then challenged for cause. Denying the challenge, Rogers inquired if the juror could not act fairly and impartially.

"Tired," said Rogers. Upon Warren's assurance that he could do so, Rogers contested the challenge.

Henry in turn asked the juror if it were not a fact that it would be impossible to remove from the jury any one of the supervisors who were bribed. Warren admitted this.

After more questions Henry submitted the challenge and Judge Lawlor excused the juror.

Court then adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

PHYSICIANS TELL OF GLOVER

cross-examination it appears that they will try to prove that Glover's powers of resistance were so far eaten by liquor, chloral and the ravages of disease that he fell a prey to a shock which would not otherwise have caused death.

One of the attorneys for the defense admitted, in conversation with a TRIBUNE reporter, that there were several points so far held in absence by them which would prove of the greatest material importance before the end of the trial. While it was not possible to secure the exact character of the evidence, enough information was dropped to show that the woman's side of the case have not played all of their trump, but have several surprises in store for their opponents.

WOMAN MELANCHOLY.

If Miss Scully had been instructed to feign insanity she could not have acted her part with greater precision. She sits in a characteristic attitude of melancholia during the proceedings, her eyes drooped to the floor, and has not smiled at any time while in the court room. Occasionally she raises her eyes to the witness stand, and often she may be seen in tears as some particularly repulsive bit of evidence is introduced; but in the main she exhibits a stoicism proof against all influences.

Dr. John H. Robertson, superintendent of the State asylum for the insane at Livermore, has been requested by the prosecution to view the case and was present "his morning during the taking of testimony. This move is evidently made to reinforce the prosecution against a defense of temporary insanity. Though Dr. Robertson would, of course, give a fair and impartial opinion if called upon to decide Miss Scully's condition.

DR. HAMLIN CALLED.

Dr. O. D. Hamlin was the first witness called by District Attorney Brown for the prosecution. The physician stated that he has practiced in Oakland for twelve years. In answer to a question by the doctor said: "When called to Providence Hospital at 11 o'clock in the morning of August 12th I found Mr. Glover in bed with his head bandaged. I took off the bandages and found the face terribly bruised, undoubtedly by some strong convulsive. The eyes were badly burned, especially the left eye. Glover was also suffering severely from a shock. I dressed the wounds, called Dr. Musser to attend to his eyes, and administered a heart stimulant, as his heart action was very bad, due to the shock."

"Was he delirious at that time?"

"Yes, slightly—this afterwards increased as the days went on."

"Would he take nourishment?"

"No, he declined to take any thing through his mouth. After nourishment and stimulant were given by rectal treatment and hypodermics."

BECAME DELIRIOUS.

"He gradually became more delirious, you say?"

"Yes, he became violent as time went on, and we were compelled to swathe his entire body in cotton to prevent his hurting himself."

"Who else was called to attend Glover?"

"Well, a great number of physicians came in to see Glover. There were Drs. Pomeroy, Rice, Reine, Adams and Brier, besides some more."

"Did you perform an autopsy on the body?"

"Yes, the morning of the death of Glover, at the Oakland Morgue."

"What did you find?"

"The wounds from the corrosive were much as I have described. The left optic nerve was much sloughed and the base of the brain in a condition of meningitis, or inflammation of the membrane, had formed."

"Doctor, what was the cause of this meningitis?"

"The absorption of pus from the left eye."

"Was the formation of pus caused by?"

"By the burns in the eye on the face."

"That is all," said Brown.

Attorney Philip Walsh then took Dr. Hamlin.

TELLS OF SCARS.

"Did you notice anything peculiar on the lower limbs of the deceased Glover?"

"Why, yes, there were three scars on one leg and one on the other. One scar was about the size of a dollar, another the size of a half-dollar."

"They were copper-colored, were they?"

"Yes, all wounds are more or less copper-colored."

"In your opinion what were they caused by?"

"Well, they might be caused by many things."

"Doctor, those scars not very indicative of serious disease?"

"They might have been."

"Were they not the same color as syphilitic sores?"

"Yes, they were."

"Now, Doctor, could not the meningitis you speak of been caused by alcoholism?"

"Hardly—I don't think so."

"Do not alcoholics sometimes have latent meningitis?"

"Yes, sir, but not this kind of meningitis."

"Does it not require a microscope to diagnose a case of meningitis?"

"Oh, no—the lesions are plainly discernible to the naked eye."

SEARCHING QUESTIONS.

"Could not a state of chronic meningitis have been merged and covered up by the acute meningitis which you discovered?"

"Yes, sir, that might be."

"How much of the body can be burned without causing death?"

"Well, there is a rule that one-third of the body can be burned and still live."

"Now, doctor, have you ever known of a case of any person dying directly as a result of a burn from acids?"

"Yes, sir, I have."

"Now, doctor, do you not, that this acid was thrown into the eyes without causing blindness?"

DANIELA. RYAN FOR MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO

FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER OF OCTOBER 20, 1907

In this civic crisis all good citizens, irrespective of party affiliations or personal prejudices, are united in judgment as to the kind of man San Francisco needs for Mayor during the coming term.

He must be honest and fearless.

He must sincerely lend the moral influence of his office and whatever aid it may be in his power to give, to the prosecution of the grafters who have brought San Francisco into world-wide disrepute.

He must be vigorous of mind and body to perform the arduous duties which will fall to his lot in the rehabilitation of the city.

He must be unshackled — free to go straight to the end of the policy of regeneration and absolutely incapable of being swayed by any form of unscrupulous influence, either of one man, corporations or newspapers.

These must be the fundamentals of the character of the Mayor of San Francisco, in order to cope successfully with the unique problem to be solved.

The complex situation requires of all citizens that they ignore personal preferences, friendships and all considerations of sentiment and act only in accordance with the dictates of pure civic patriotism.

In conscientious appreciation of this necessity, The Examiner has subjected the three candidates to the supreme test of each of the requirements enumerated and has reached a verdict.

Mr. P. H. McCarthy fails utterly to meet most of the requirements.

Dr. E. R. Taylor, of irreproachable private character and of unshakable integrity, lacks the equally potent essential of virility and effective efficiency.

Mr. Daniel A. Ryan, of equally irreproachable private character, and of equally unshakable integrity, more nearly fills to the full the needs of the hour and him "The Examiner" unhesitatingly recommends to all the voters of San Francisco—Republican, Democratic and Labor Adherents alike, as the man best qualified to be the next Mayor of the city.

Mr. McCarthy, at the head of the so-called Labor Union ticket, seems at this time to have fallen into an unfortunate situation. "The Examiner" knows nothing personally against Mr. McCarthy. If it did, it would give that knowledge to the voters. But Mr. McCarthy is unhappy in the conditions which he has created around himself.

Ever since before the last campaign he has been the close political ally and associate of Ruef and Schmitz. When it was shown that these worthies were corrupt, Mr. McCarthy might have repudiated them. He did not do so. Now he has lost his opportunity to declare that he is not their representative and does not stand for the brand of politics which they have made infamous in the community. However good his personal life may be, he has made himself the champion of the idea which has sent Ruef and Schmitz to jail.

When he refused to renominate Langdon, whose work has brought corruption its just punishment; when he substituted in Langdon's place a well-known corporation attorney, who through all his professional life has had no other association than that of the corporations; when he renominated for the office of Sheriff Mr. O'Neill, whom the court was compelled to suspend from the performance of his duties because he used his office in behalf of criminals instead of in behalf of the law, then Mr. McCarthy unfurled the banner of graft and flung it to the breeze and took his stand beneath it.

The workingmen of San Francisco do not believe in graft and corrupt political government. They do not believe in blackmail, extortion and bribery. They will not knowingly send into office the men who, by their own acts, proclaim that graft is their policy. "The Examiner" has found in its years of experience a more sterling honesty among those who earn their bread by hard work than among those who live off of the products of this labor.

We believe the workingmen of San Francisco want an honest, efficient, free government in their city, and in the confidence of this belief and in their best interests, which has always been ours, we unhesitatingly advise them not to vote for P. H. McCarthy.

For Dr. Taylor we share the common sentiment of honest admiration. But the mellowed graces of his personal nature, the gentle attributes that have attended his communion with the muses, the trustful gentleness that is deepening in the sunset of his admirable life, are qualities that endear him as a man but render him insufficient to assume the armor of war and win a desperate fight.

The people must not go to the polls blind to the facts about Dr. Taylor and a mistaken fear lest his feelings be wounded by criticism. Now is the time for all the truth about all men.

The very excellence of this highly respectable man has been used already as a big trading asset in the political market place. He has been dragged from the repose he has earned and set up as a sort of demi-god by those who merely wish to use him. Not to approve of Dr. Taylor and not to bow obedience when the gentlemen behind him command it has been regarded as blasphemous in the eyes of these men who dare not appeal themselves to the suffrage of the people.

Honesty alone cannot avail in such a business undertaking as conducting the intricate affairs of a great city.

The streets of San Francisco are still torn up.

The sewers of San Francisco are still useless.

No effort has been made to house the city government in a fit building.

Nothing has been done toward the securing of a water supply to save us from such another disaster as we suffered a year and a half ago.

The money appropriated for the Geary-street road is lying idle in the treasury and no effort is being made to reconstruct that roadbed.

Nothing of progress has occurred under this administration, and nothing of progress is promised.

The least that could have been expected under Dr. Taylor during the temporary government that is drawing to a close was non-partizanship. The city's interests free from all politics was the obvious one to the people at such a time.

It is only charitable to think that he was misled into making the grievous mistake that has marred the administration, but that or any other interpretation leaves him yet unfit to be trusted with leading the battle against misgovernment that is to come.

What good promise for the future is there in the work of a man however honest who could be so shamefully used by his advisers as to father the appointment of William J. Biggy as Chief of Police? Biggy's odorous record is known of all men, barring possibly Dr. Taylor. His Legislature career was a disgrace. He was dismissed from the Police Commission by James D. Phelan, who is now financing the Taylor campaign and selecting his personal employees as Supervisors and political mentors for that good old poet. But there he is a monument to what—Honesty?

Who again is responsible for Michael Casey, who is detested by nine-tenths of Taylor's followers, and who was appointed to the Board of Public Works obviously only because he was believed to control a certain number of votes?

There was no other motive for this appointment, and Dr. Taylor's honest followers today gnash their teeth because Casey is occupying a position on the board, but they dare murmur only in whispers.

Who are the men in the private cabinet of this good, honest Mayor? Who are the men who as advisers have left so many necessary things undone and who have perpetuated a Biggy and a Casey?

Mr. Rudolph Spreckels stands first. Whatever of good he has done the community, or may do in the future, must be judged in its relation to the autocratic political kingdom he is seeking to construct. He seeks to be the god behind the demi-god with power to grant the purification of an immunity bath to all who bow their heads in reverence to his sway. He pledged his solemn word when he undertook the altogether worthy prosecution of the grafters that he would not mix in politics and yet today he denounces as unworthy any man of sufficient independence to refuse to accept his absolute dictation in the most minute political affairs.

Associated with him is the freebooter, Fremont Older, who has been denounced from almost every platform in the city by priests and public men, charlatan of an infamous newspaper with which he infests the community. The "boughten Bulletin" is an ancient phrase in San Francisco and one justly earned.

Associated with him is Miss Edward Livermash, who, when not posing on the water front as a wench, is changing his or her political opinions as often as he is changing his costumes.

Close to all these is James D. Phelan, who selected for Mayor Taylor some Supervisors who will be treated of in a subsequent article.

On one occasion when the Bulletin, conducted by his friend

Older, printed an article not complimentary to Mr. Phelan, the ex-Mayor's comment was:

"I guess the lease has expired."

To place in power a man of Dr. Taylor's reputation as a shield for the political machinations of men who could not be elected to any office in the gift of the people would be the rankest kind of unwisdom.

And that brings us to the third man before the people—Mr. Daniel A. Ryan.

Mr. Ryan was heralded first by the forces which now oppose him, Mr. Spreckels, the Call, the Chronicle and the Bulletin, as the grand young leader who was going to redeem San Francisco. He had the unqualified approval and support of Mr. Rudolph Spreckels. He went into the County Committee and whipped out Herrin and his evil combination on the question of apportionment. He led anti-graft forces in the primary fight and led them with skill to triumphant victory.

He was proclaimed by these men as a conspicuous type of the good citizen that he is. He nominated Langdon as a guarantee that he was sincerely opposed to the methods of the grafters and sincerely anxious to see the criminals sent to the penitentiary.

But when Mr. Spreckels had concluded that he wanted merely a respectable front in the office of the Mayor and not an independent man, he demanded of Mr. Ryan that he should give up his ambitions, refuse the wishes of the majority of the convention, take orders from him and nominate Spreckels' choice, his former attorney, to the office of Mayor.

When Mr. Ryan refused, then the clique that seeks power by indirection turned against him. They searched his record as "The Examiner" has done. They sought in every phase of his life some indiscretion which could be used in attack, and all they found was—youth. They found out what "The Examiner" found out, that Mr. Ryan was young, one year younger than Mr. Rudolph Spreckels. And with that they charged him—youth.

They had proclaimed that either Ryan or Taylor would do on a combination ticket, but when Spreckels changed his mind and wanted Taylor, then Ryan mysteriously became a different kind of man—youth.

The truth is that the only thing these schemers could find against Dan Ryan is that he was too independent an American citizen to be the puppet of a vindictive financier who is using a worthy public prosecution for the gratification of his private enmities.

"The Examiner" will have more to say about Mr. Ryan's youth, what he has done with it, and what he gives promise of doing with the rest of it before age shall have blurred his discernment and sapped his vigor. Here we can only roughly outline its admirable effort.

Mr. Ryan was pleading motions at the bar in San Francisco when Rudolph Spreckels had not yet made up his mind whether he was ever going to do anything in life or not. He has had a career of sixteen years of association with some of the most eminent men that the bar of San Francisco has known. He has earned his own living since childhood. He has dug his education out without assistance.

He has made his own way in the world as an independent, self-supporting man, seeking no favor from anyone. He has kept himself clean and clear of corrupt corporation influences and corrupt political leaders in spite of innumerable temptations. He has fought a clean fight through all the clean life that he has led, and it is an added virtue at this point in his career that he has had the courage to disobey the political orders of Rudolph Spreckels, even when it seemed to be signing his political death warrant, and yet he will aid Mr. Spreckels in the prosecution of the graft cases with all the aggressive vigor of a "man of youth."

To the workingmen of San Francisco we say without hesitation that we believe their interests will be conscientiously safeguarded by Mr. Ryan. He knows its hardships, he has been a private in its glorious army, he shares its hopes for honest betterment, he appreciates its dignity, he is labor's friend.

To Republicans, Democrats and all other honest men of whatever affiliation, we say without hesitation that we believe Mr. Ryan will be Mayor of the whole people, that no party will sway his judgment or divert him from the honest administration of the city's affairs and that he will give the best there is in him to the work of giving San Francisco a new greatness.

To all grafters, big and little, corporations and individuals, we say without hesitation that we believe he will devote all the strength of his trained legal mind to ridding the community of their pestilential influence.

Charity is not a bell that gets their money from an insecure, and since it brings comfort and aid to the suffering, they need no suggestion as common practice. I am sorry that the discussion should arise at this time—after so successful a campaign.

Mrs. George W. Bunnell, ex-president of the Oakland Club and a prominent charity worker, sides with Rev. Loofburrow, as does Rev. Baker of the First Presbyterian Church. Says Mrs. Bunnell: "I am sure that the minister who is here when every preacher in Oakland should raise his voice against all forms of gambling. Every minister in Oakland might well find it definitely a part of his duty to denounce this practice. The road leading from the casual game of chance and the society roulette table or the auto raffie to the race track and the gaming table is a direct one.

There are many churches and there are churches that have taught boys and girls that they could get what others paid for, and that they might win through others' losses."

MINANCE TO CHILDREN.

Said Mrs. L. P. Crane, sister of Mrs. Cora Jones, president of the Oakland Club and one of the officers of the organization:

"The Rev. Dr. Looftorrow struck a strong note, although I do not feel like condemning the actions of the ladies of Fabiola. I do think, however, that many of the children are tempted by chance and wheels of fortune which we often conduct in connection with getting funds for a charitable purpose are a menace to the children. They inspire in the young mind a tendency to gamble—to trust to luck, and it is not right."

"I can readily understand how many would purchase tickets not because it was gambling, but because they were interested in the plan of charitable organizations. Children have little or no part, however, in the larger games of chance conducted by the charities of the city."

Thus by one the dictators of custom and precedent in Oakland are taking up the gauntlet of the pastor or the association, and promise to vigorously support their respective champions. The

To Enlarge a Great Industry.

The announcement which Charles M. Schwab made on Saturday to the members of the Merchants Exchange of San Francisco that he had decided not to close the Union Iron Works, but, to the contrary, will spend a million dollars in modernizing and enlarging its plant, was quite as sincerely welcomed on this side of the bay as it was where it was uttered. The four bay cities are mutually interested in the maintenance of the establishment and its prosperity. The closing of the works would have been a calamity in which all these communities would have been co-sufferers, for it would have thrown five thousand skilled workers out of employment. In other words, a population of approximately twenty thousand is dependent upon the great shipyard keeping its gates open. And a considerable proportion of this population is located in the three cities on this side of the bay.

The Union Iron Works has been uniformly successful as a great shipbuilding establishment since the coasting steamer Arago—the first iron vessel to be built on the Pacific Coast—was launched from its ways twenty years ago. It made money for the Scotts and their associates, and it proved of immense service to the government in the development of a new navy. Many of the war vessels built at the Union Iron Works have made enviable records in international naval annals as splendid examples of mechanical endurance and good workmanship.

Some allusion was made by Mr. Schwab, in the course of his speech, to the higher rate of wages paid at the works than is being paid in the eastern states for the same class of labor, with a suggestion that an adjustment must be effected in order to insure profits. As a matter of fact, the scale of wages at the Union Iron Works has always been higher than in the eastern shipyards, for reasons which every intelligent student of the influences affecting the industry has readily comprehended. The Scotts organized the works on a sound footing by importing a working force from Scotland, representing the highest type of skilled labor to be obtained in the shipyards on the Clyde, to which the highest wage paid to iron workers in the United States was given. A superior class of workmen and an equable climate constituted the main secret of the success of the establishment in its competition with eastern shipyards. We have no extremes of heat and cold here such as exist in the eastern states to interrupt the worker and curtail his capacity. The larger results obtained have amply compensated for the higher cost of labor. The future success of the Union Iron Works will depend, as it has in the past, on a high standard of the skilled labor employed being maintained and on the uniformity of California's incomparable climate.

According to all accounts "frenzied finance" has been getting in its work at Valdez, Alaska, in great shape, where an effort seems to have been made to run a bank and build a railroad on nothing more substantial than nerve.

Was an Innocent Man Convicted?

If it is true that an innocent man has been kept imprisoned at San Quentin under a life sentence, for the past thirteen years, after being convicted of a crime which the dying confession of one of those who railroaded him to the penitentiary says he never committed, the prison directors should lose no time in making reparation and restoring him his liberty. The strongest affidavits of his innocence and of the great wrong done to him under the color of law and justice, have been submitted to the Prison Directors, and it is said that the trial judge has declared to them in addition that the man convicted was innocent. The directors have been deeply impressed by the evidence submitted, but they prudently desire, first of all, to establish the genuineness of the affidavit before taking action in the matter. It is to be presumed that once the integrity of the evidence of innocence is established, the unfortunate man will be promptly released.

But there is no reparation that can be made by the State which will be adequate compensation for depriving an innocent man of thirteen of the best years of his life, besides unjustly putting on him the brand of a felon. Meantime, what punishment is there severe enough that can be meted out to those who were instrumental in convicting an innocent man of a crime involving the penalty of forfeiture of freedom for life? If any of these false witnesses are still living they should be haled before the bar of justice and made to suffer the full penalty of the law, whatever it be.

Artificial Waterways Planned.

It will not be surprising if the first and second decades pass down in the history of the United States as the era of canal building. While the country is still engaged in the completion of the most stupendous undertaking in canal construction ever attempted by man, the government is planning the development of a network of artificial waterways on an equally costly scale, but which, when carried out, will probably be still greater aids to the commerce of the country.

The Inland Waterways Commission is now engaged in preparing its report covering the plans formed for publication next month, and it is announced that the president will urge Congress in his annual message to put these plans into execution. The programme comprises the joining of the great lakes and Hudson bay with the gulf for the use of commerce, utilizing the Mississippi river and its tributaries for the purpose. This part of the programme has, in fact, been incubating since the Chicago drainage canal was completed. It is also planned to join the mouth of the Mississippi with Texas ports and the Rio Grande in one direction, and in the other direction, linking it with the Atlantic seaboard by cutting across the peninsula of Florida, through the agency of the Suwannee river. Another feature in the programme includes the union of Delaware and Raritan bays by opening a canal across New Jersey. This great network of interior waterway improve its way cost, it is estimated, at least $200,000,000. But Congress is getting so accustomed to the handling of large enterprises that it is not likely to be fazed by the cost, particularly where the enterprise covers so large an area of the country and promises such extraordinary benefits in return.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning County Surveyor Haviland reported that during September work to the amount of $242,839 had been done on the foothills boulevard. The cost of the road up to the present time is $242,839.

RAID PRIZE MONEY
The California Pigeon Club asked for an appropriation of $100 for the purpose of enabling Thomas E. Egan to exhibit his annual exhibition, which is to be held in Loma Park November 21, 22, 23 and 24. The communication set forth that officers of the club served without compensation and devoted their time and best efforts in advancing the pigeon industry. The matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

LIQUOR LICENSES
Liquor licenses were granted to Joseph Kubiet, M. Eden, and J. D. Lynch. The applications for saloon licenses of his defense Thomas E. Egan, Attorney C. H. Christensen, corner of College avenue and Teala Road, Murray Township, Contra Costa county, and John Bauman, Irvington and Jose S. Asavado, Alameda were referred to the committee on the whole.

At the suggestion of County Superintendent of Education Erick Olinda school district which has been annexed to Redwood district.

Superintendent Erik was also authorized to transfer to the school district the property of Las Coste school district which latter has been annexed to Redwood district.

AUTHORITY STOPPED PAYMENT
A resolution was adopted accepting fifty Dean ballot machines and authorizing the payment of a claim of $37,600 for the same.

The Ferrier Brock Development Company, the Cragmont Land Company and a number of private individuals petitioned for the building of a road through lands owned by the companies referred to. The road in question is to run in a general southeasterly direction to a point on the north line of Berkeley about one fifth of a mile from the line dividing Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

The matter was continued for one week. The same disposition was made of the application of James Davis for a road 70 feet in width beginning near the west end of the tunnel between Alameda and Contra Costa counties and running in a general northerly direction to a point on the eastern line of the town of Berkeley about a quarter of a mile south of the line dividing Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

SIGN BOARDS
The building committee was authorized to paint sign boards at the entrance to the court house.

The hospital committee was empowered to make repairs at the county infirmary at a cost not to exceed $1000. The clerk of the County Infirmary reported that there were 370 patients in that institution and that during the month of September services to the number of 10,813 had been rendered to them.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Thomas Norton, an oiler twenty-two years old who was terribly burned by the exploding of a steam pipe on October 11, died at the McNeill hospital at 10 o'clock this morning.

Norton was working on the steamer Santa Maria and was oiling the machinery when a pipe exploded, scalding his entire body.

SAYS HE'S 120 YEARS OLD
James F. Russell, an aged resident of Twelfth street, was taken into the Receiving Hospital at noon yesterday, suffering from dementia. Russell claims that he is 120 years old, but it is safe to place his age at eighty-one or eighty-two years. He will be examined by a lunacy commission tomorrow morning.

POSTPONES SENTENCE
Judge Samuels was disposed today to give Edward Russell a sentence of six months in jail upon the charge of vagrancy, but finally decided to take the case under advisement. Russell was told to appear in the morning when his case will be heard and his life determined.

RECENTLY ARRIVED PASTOR TAKES UP NEW MINISTRY

COMES FROM STATE OF IOWA

The Rev. Dr. M. R. Drury, recently of Toledo, Iowa, yesterday began his ministry as pastor of the First Church, United Brethren in Christ of Oakland, at Thirty-fourth and Adeline streets. Dr. Drury comes recommended from his former pastorate and was invited to the Pacific Coast by Bishop William M. Bohl, with whom he worked in former fields. At yesterday's services Dr. Drury delivered an earnest exhortation for a more earnest effort to advance the kingdom of God, and declared that the secret of success in this is to more fully inquire into the mind of the Master and ascertain just what he would do under the circumstances to be considered.

Tomorrow evening a reception will be given to Dr. Drury and Mrs. Drury in the parlors of the church to which the public is invited. Brief addresses will be made by Bishop W. M. Bohl, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Baker, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Barnhart, the Rev. Dr. Marr and others.

Supervisors Discuss Right of Southern Pacific to Run Road Near Pleasanton.

At a meeting of the Supervisors this morning Supervisor Rowe took exception to the manner in which the railroad of the county was constructing extensions of their respective lines. He first objected to the work done by the Western Pacific and then referred to that of the Southern Pacific. He said that the latter road was building an extension of its line from a point near Pleasanton to San Ramon Valley and that it had been asked the permission of the county. It had torn up roads which the county had built. He wanted to say that it was wrong and if that had been done in his district he would have been since taken steps to stop it.

CLAIM RIGHT OF WAY
Supervisor Horner said that the work complained of was in his district and that at one time he had stopped the company from extending one of its lines. He said however that all the railroad attorneys asserted that the company had the right to carry on the work in question. The company at the same time put the county road in a better condition after the work than the road had been in before the extension was undertaken.

The matter, he declared, had been referred to the District Attorney and would have to await his decision.

Deputy District Attorney Donahue who was present stated that the matter had been brought to the attention of the District Attorney and was now being looked into and a decision would be handed down at the earliest possible moment.

The Board has not yet mentioned the name of its physician. He will be paid out of the general fund and will bear the expense of his transportation to and from various parts of the county for the purpose of making examinations.

NETHERSOLE AT MAGDONOUGH

Olga Nethersole will present The Awakening at the Macdonough Theatre tonight. The situation shows a married woman with a marriageable daughter so shy pressed by a persistent lover, but not able to hold him fast at arms length. This lover is the son of a king in exile. The devoted Prince Gregorio of Sylvania, sixteen years of Jesus's life in Paris have under the shadow of the shadow of the young man Prince Jean while his father continues plotting to regain the lost throne not for himself but for his son. This and he is destined an ideal character for Jean as a wise benignant and liberal ruler. In contradistinction to the relentlessness of Prince Gregorio whose harshness caused him to be known as the Red Prince. But when the time is ripe to strike the young man wavers. A long line of princes of Sylvania has furnished victims of assassination. The last desecrated tomb seems to be the certain fate of every ruler in the principality.

The woman Therese de Mege knows this baneful historic fact. When she learns that Jean's father has arrived to take him back to reign in Sylvania her one desire is to save his life. That can only be done by detaining him in the castle in Paris and she accordingly yields to his pressure for an assignment. His father learns the secret of Jean's unlawful love and commands him to follow the path of duty in working out his high destiny but Jean refuses. In the second act tragedy is brought to play by Prince Gregorio. Jean is trapped by his father and an emissary of the insurgents. Therese who has kept her appointment is made to believe that she hears him being murdered in an adjoining chamber. She is led to believe that Jean has been done to death in ambush and she is unconsciously dismissed by his father almost in a state of complete collapse. Prince Gregorio takes steps to insure that she shall not come to harm on her way home or commit suicide.

The plan has been to make Therese believe that Jean is dead whereas her self surrender was for the purpose of saving his life. Prince Gregorio is convinced that once she returns to her home she will never again yield to the arguments of Jean and that he will be driven to lead his supporters in the field. How the plan works is disclosed in the last act and the manner in which the awakening comes to both makes a strong series of scenes.

The management of the Macdonough Theatre which to announce that owing to urgent demands and requests that in stead of playing The Awakening Wednesday afternoon was announced Miss Nethersole will present Adrienne Lecocquer the play in which she scored her greatest success during her recent San Francisco engagement.

College Professor Who Objected To Young Girl's Dress Being Cut Too Low

SOCIETY GOSSIP

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The professor at Pennington, N. J., who ordered the young girl—the daughter of a clergyman—from a dining-room because of a "dutch neck" to her dress, evidently saw himself in a halo of virtuous light because of his brave attack on all the branches of sin, says The Widow in Town. Of course, those at the dinner—who were ready to tear the good man to pieces for his asinine in condemning an old gown on a young girl—a gown that had been doing service all the season—could not tell whether or not Dutch necks—the style that only suggests low cut—were more immoral to the professor because it left too much to an erratic imagination and not enough to a calm, sane, steady, and unimpaired judgment. Anyway, the man of finance, or the teacher in the commercial department of this seminary, it is said—when the pretty girl appeared for dinner—or as sitting at table unconscious of any-her clear, pure, unconsciousness of herself is about as rascally a crime as the contemptible burglar who says, "It is not my fault; somebody told me to do it," etc., and thus adding the craven coward to his crimes. It is wise and godly stopping that the father of the young girl laughs at the episode as unworthy of notice, at the same time a professor in a school with his mind and instincts all distorted can do more harm than can be weighed. All moral teachings of other professors and members of the faculty will be thrown away and wasted because the contrast and specimen of virtue stands out so clearly in this back number, narrow, blue law relet as a sample of doctrine. One such specimen would make all teaching seem a farce not worth consideration or deduction.

The pity of it is that the young girl is caught so soon the evil there is in the minds of those who should be teachers that no evil exists where evil is not thought.

rooms the blossoms will be yellow, and will be combined with autumn tinted leaves. Over two hundred cards are out for the affair.

In the receiving party will be Miss Alla Henshaw, Miss Florence Henshaw, Miss William G. Henshaw, Miss Elsie V. Clifford, Mrs. James M. Clifford, Miss Alice Grimes, Mrs. Roger Chickering, Miss Fannie Chickering, Miss Katherine Brown, Miss Ruth Houghton, Miss Edna Prather, Miss Lily Reed, Miss Florence Stewart, Miss Mollie Mathes, Miss Mitchell of New York, Mrs. E. C. Farnham, Mrs. Clifton Kroll, Mrs. Bert Scott, Miss Sue Hall, Miss Anita Thompson, Miss Avis Sterling, Miss Ruth Woodburn, Miss Rose Kales, Mrs. John Overbury.

LUNCHEON AND THEATER PARTY.
Miss Anita Thompson is to be Miss Henshaw's hostess for tomorrow, entertaining a group of girls at luncheon and later at the theater.

Miss Thompson's guest list includes Miss Alla Henshaw, Mrs. John T. AFFINITIES CAN'T MARRY; 'NO MATTER,' SAYS GOSSIP

Wealthy New York Broker May Live in Fool's Paradise With His Sweetheart.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Certainly a toothsome dish of scandal is that Hugh Miller has concocted for the edification of his family and the Gardiners and the sympathy here, and especially around Monmouth Beach, for Mrs. Miller and her people seem not to be misplaced. Mrs. Miller's divorce, just granted, was an incident in the domestic drama anticipated by Mr. Miller when he met, fell in love with and dashed his affinity in the eyes of the public. But there is a point in connection with the divorce that the gossipy husband did not expect. I mean that under the decree which is to be entered this week, Mrs. Miller will be allowed to marry again, but that Hugh cannot do so until her death. This unexpected move places the affinity on the matrimonial shelf, temporarily at least.

GREAT DE PEYSTER-STRONG DANCES ARE PAST HISTORY

Real Reason for Discontinuance Is Due to the Death of the Man Who Planned Them.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—As early as last April, it was predicted that the Peyster-Strong dinner dances at six dollars a plate would be discontinued. The reason given at the time were many and varied. Mrs. Fred de Peyster had been passing through a long period of mourning; the patronesses, who included Mrs. John Jay, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish Morris, Mrs. Matilda Livingston Deland, Mrs. Hone and Mrs. William Iselin, found that they did not have time to devote to the dances, etc., etc. It now appears that the real reason for giving them up was the passing of Mr. Strong. He was everything to the class and without him it could not go on.

He had suggested the class to Mrs. de Peyster at a time when about all of the other classes were failures, as they are now. He recognized that the making of the Matinees was due to internal difficulties and not to apathy, and that there was room for an exchange and to take the place of the old assembly, and incidentally a class that would bring Mr. Strong into the center of the class.

SELECTED DINNER.
He arranged matters at Delmonico's, suggested the small dining tables that could be easily removed, placed the guests, selected the eight courses of the dinner, the wines, and secured Alice Hadden to lead the cotillions. Every subscriber was pleased with the first dinner, or the first time in five or there fore that their budding daughters were secure among the young women and men of their own acquaintance and everybody believed the dances had come to stay.

Mrs. de Peyster must feel "all in" if such an intelligent terms can be applied to a de Peyster, through the failure of her class. She was very proud of it and people recognized that there was no such exclusive class since those conducted by Messiaens, Deland and Church. Though Strong was not well known socially, at least he did have a newspaper reputation. He was a good dancer, and as Mrs. de Peyster had liked her name with him, no questions were asked. Older people knew that he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Strong, that his father belonged to an old Phil-

Hats of the Noted Daughter of John D.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Harold McCormicks of Chicago are now visiting Mrs. McCormick's father, John D. Rockefeller, after passing a portion of the season at Lake Forest. One wonders how Mrs. McCormick ever finds room enough in her trunk for her numerous hats, and whether she buys a fresh stock in every city. She fairly dazzles the millionaire suburbanites by her change of headgear this summer and is said to have exhibited over forty hats one afternoon to some of her envious friends. So much admiration was lavished on them that the hostess at once bestowed nineteen on those who would accept them. It was mighty generous, but, as one of the recipients remarked afterward—it was the end of the season instead of the beginning. Mrs. McCormick—who is as pretty now as when she was Narcissa Niblack and turned Dwight Lawrence's head—is now wearing a hat of Mrs. McCormick's choosing, not a "cast off," however, but a new one that she ordered especially for a bridge prize and which the fair Narcissa won in fair fight.

'MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN THE WORLD' A BRIDE

MARJORY BURNS OF CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—"The world's most beautiful girl," as well as the richest heiress in this city, has brought here the most magnificent trousseau local society ever has seen. She has been in Europe for several months ransacking capitals and convents for a wealth of soft and historic fabrics for her coming marriage to Sidney C. Love, the Chicago broker.

Furthermore, society sits today intently curious as to the date of this interesting wedding. It is believed that Miss Burns will take her chosen friends into confidence on this matter right away, though no public announcement will be made for some time.

The Yuletide season will most likely suit Miss Burns the best, say her intimates. It is the time when all the world is young, when every heart beats lighter.

Miss Burns is the daughter of Mrs. C. C. Burns, of No. 11 Lake Shore drive. The wedding will undoubtedly be celebrated in Chicago. Mr. Love is in New York, but he will, probably hasten back to his home in order to be near his fiancée.

The engagement of Mr. Love and Miss Burns is highly approved by members of the exclusive set. Many had long hoped that the well-known clubman would win the charming young woman as soon as it was known that he had been divorced from his wife.

Too Fond Of His First Wife

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21.—Leroy Bernard's friendliness to his first wife is such cruelty to his second wife that she wants a divorce.

In a suit filed through Attorney Murray Seasoned, Mrs. Julia Bernard charges that her husband, besides failing to provide food and clothing for her, also neglects her by constantly associating with Clara Bernard, his divorced wife.

Bernard and his first wife lived unhappily until after they were legally separated, when, it is claimed, they suddenly became quite fond of each other. It is said that Bernard will not contest his second wife's suit, and after he is again free will remarry wife No. 1. Mrs. Bernard No. 2, says she wants no more divorces as husband.

MISS MARTHA CHICKERING

Miss Iselin Appears at the Races in Original Hat of Burnt Rose Velvet, Trimmed with Crimson Ribbon and Crimson Wings and Surmounted by Lofly Crimson Aigrettes.

NEWPORT, Oct. 21.—Miss Iselin and Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, each six feet in height, if not more, showed some autumn thoughts in hats at the recent races, that of the former being the most attractive and becoming on the grounds that day. It was of burnt rose velvet trimmed with crimson ribbon, crimson wings and surmounted by lofty crimson aigrettes. Miss Denegre was constantly way, she is always making some show of her money. She played every race, and though she spoke of being "so lucky," I did not know whether it referred to her winnings or the presence of Mrs. Havemeyer's good-looking granddaughter.

Anent the Huhns some people are asking if Mrs. George Huhn Jr. is wise in forcing her sister on everyone she knows. The sister, it is said, is a thoroughbred in appearance or manner, neither is Mrs. Huhn, but Mrs. Huhn is a nice, plain little woman who is popular with women. She is courageous to stand side by side with her lovely friend, Mrs. Dandridge Spotswood. What a pity Mrs. Spotswood is so poor—if a woman possessing such beauty as hers may be called poor. With the proper adornment few could surpass her, but she should aim higher than the Huhns, who are known only as climbers, neat and branch, if she expects ever to succeed.

HUBBY STAYS AT HOME--WIFE TROTS

Woman Dazzles Europe With Her Costumes While Society Wonders--How?

A certain New York woman has caused much amusement, not unmixed with ridicule, by explaining why she was abroad without her husband, although laying much stress upon having a chaperone and maid. As the woman has hair almost white, though not of the premature variety, say those who have known her for many years, her explanation of the pair of protecting Abigails caused many a covert smile. The woman in question, whose name has a frosty savor, was quite the most gorgeously and extravagantly dressed of our women in Paris and beside her, lovely, unostentatious Mrs. John Astor looked almost shabby. How she does it has been the wonder and speculation of many who know the true state of hubby's finances. But no doubt she has kind friends, as she seeks to know only rich people, whether they are smart or not, and she sits about the corridors of the Ritz day after day on the lookout for eligible persons. Another Turner sunset face has this lady, who is handsome in a haggard, passive way, and in daylight is never seen without a heavy veil. Everybody in Paris and on the Continent this past summer concluded that the Narragansett season must have been a stupid one with most of the famed beauties of that resort on that side of the ocean. Among them were Mrs. Herbert Harde, Mrs. Charles Gilpin, third, and Mrs. Barclay Warburton. By the way, Mrs. Charles Gilpin, third, is getting such fat cheeks that, unless she takes time by the forelock she will soon rival her mother, who was once graceful and sweet as the daughter.

GLADYS VANDERBILT'S NOBLE FIANCE WEALTHY

Unlike Most Foreigners Who Marry American Girls, This Man Has Plenty of Money.

That Szechenyi family is a very great one in Hungary, though the patent of nobility is only about two centuries old, but the name has been mentioned in Hungarian history for a thousand years. Count Laszlo is in his twenty-ninth year, and is considered extremely good-looking, a sportsman, and able to boast the usual military career of his countrymen. He is one of the five sons of the late Count Emerich Szechenyi, who for several years was the Austrian Ambassador at the Kaiser's court, and was a Knight of the Austrian Order of the Golden Fleece. He died about ten years ago.

The count's mother was the Countess Alexandra of Saturday-Salmay. The present head of the family, Count Alexander Szechenyi, is president of the House of Magnates, the upper house of the Hungarian Parliament, of which he is an hereditary member. Count Laszlo has the rank of Imperial chamberlain, is a reserve lieutenant of the Ninth Hussars, and is also hereditary member of the House of Magnates. He belongs to the celebrated Hungarian Jockey Club, and has membership in several of the continental clubs, including one in Paris. He is very wealthy in his own right, one of his estates being in the district of Horpataka, where Miss Vanderbilt and her mother visited last summer. Another is at Ekeres, where the count was born.

Five years ago Miss Vanderbilt did not give promise of making an exceedingly smart young woman, at least people said she would never reach the attitude of her sister, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. But then, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney improves with age, and that appears to be the way of Gladys. She is a Gwynne from her fingertips with her mother's eyes and mouth and smile and greatly resembles her brother Alfred, the only other Gwynne in the family. She asked him to meet the count, and it was on his ear that the count was taken to Newport and given his first taste of the regal surroundings made possible by American millions. Such splendour is rare even among the most cultivated of the not too remotely barbaric Magyars.

Miss Vanderbilt is rather petite—too much so ever to appear conspicuous, and if she has a tad it is the family faded notice and she took up four-inch hand driving so quietly that few are aware that she is a very excellent whip. She studied some stinging under Jean de Kuske—who does not forget to let the fact be known to the moths that flutter near his fervid flame—and when in town during the opera season seldom misses a subscription night. She came out two winters ago.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Mrs. John H. Henderson, wife of the former senator from Missouri, has built a number of houses in Washington, one of them to be occupied this winter by the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand. The house occupied by Commissioner of Commerce and Labor and Mrs. Straus is also the property of Mrs. Henderson. The French embassy was formerly in the Belknap Store home.

Mrs. Madro Tells How To Train Husbands

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—How to train a husband was told yesterday by the young and pretty wife of Charles Madro, a wealthy shirtwaist manufacturer of No. 1 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street. Mrs. Madro points with pride to the fact that her husband must have been successful, for she says that when she returned from her alleged elopement with Max Gelbert, a skirt manufacturer, of No. 235 East Seventy-seventh street, her husband fell on his knees before her and pleaded with her to forgive him.

On August 28, when his wife is alleged to have fled, Mr. Madro, with apparent sternness, gave much time and attention to the preparation of certain rules, which he said his wife must follow if he forgave her when she returned. These rules Mr. Madro gave to The American that they might reach the eyes of his wife.

But, according to Mrs. Madro, there was no discussion of her obeying rules when she opened the door of her home and waited in. "He simply went down on his knees," she said, "and pleaded with me to forgive him for saying that I eloped and for making those horrid rules which were printed in the paper. Of course, I love my husband, and, believing he was properly disciplined, I agree to forgive him.

"To train a husband," said Mrs. Madro last night, "is no easy task, unless one has the secret. There is no reason why a clever woman cannot train a husband, if she knows how to go about it. For more than a year my husband treated me badly, but I suffered in silence. I consulted an attorney and he suggested that my husband sign an agreement to behave, but on consideration I decided that a scrap of paper would not promote any of my happiness, unless it came from the United States engraving office.

"For two months before taking final action I studied the problem of what a woman could do when her husband was not giving her fair play. Before my marriage I was a designer of shirtwaists. I received $40 a week, which enabled me to dress smartly and have a nice home. I decided it was up to me to step back into my own sphere and let my husband shift for himself.

"A dash of jealousy is always part of my recipe for bringing a husband to time. So I was glad that Max Gelbert, my husband's chum, disappeared at the same time I did. I did not elope with Gelbert. I went alone to Monticello, to Atlantic City and later to Montreal. There I secured a position as designer for the biggest firm of shirtwaist manufacturers in that city. They paid me $75 a week.

"Just Scare 'Em," Brought Him to His Knees by Deserting

"In Montreal, I met Mr. Gelbert. He offered to assist me with money, but I thanked him and refused his offer. Mr. Gelbert is a gentleman, and he made no effort to see me again.

"My husband, through my independence and his jealousy of Mr. Gelbert, found out he was not the whole 'it' in the household. Instead of standing with folded arms awaiting a repentant wife, as he pictured himself in the newspapers, he wrote and told me that he wanted me back."

While Mrs. Madro seems to have such signal success in training her husband, the same cannot be said of the attempt of the man with whom she is said to have eloped to train his wife. When Max Gelbert disappeared his wife said that if he returns she would alarm the door in his face. She did alarm the door, as told in The American yesterday.

DARE-DEVIL LIEUTENANT WILL NOT LEAVE NEWPORT

Charles P. Nelson, Wedded to Miss Wheeler, May Give Up Water for Petroleum.

Since Lieutenant Charles P. Nelson, of the Navy, linked his fortune with that of the Standard Oil Company through marrying the youngest daughter of Theodore H. Wheeler, Navy gossip has been wondering how long before the Service would lose that dashing young officer. Lieutenant Nelson has been on duty for a number of years in command of the flotilla of submarine boats which makes its headquarters at Newport. As long as he was not sent to sea duty his relatives have not insisted on his leaving the Navy, but it is now definitely settled that when the Department decides to detach Lieutenant Nelson from his present station he will resign forthwith.

No officer in the service is better known for his numerous escapades than Lieutenant Nelson. These have varied from swimming ashore, out of a picket-launch, off Santiago, to capture a Spanish flag, to taking the place of the absent family physician on the occasion of an interesting event in the family of a Filipino light-house keeper.

Once, as a result of a collision in the East River between a torpedo-boat that he commanded and a Brooklyn ferryboat, Lieutenant Nelson was sentenced by court-martial to a loss of three numbers in grade. These he regained when, having taken his resignation for a trip in a submarine-boat, he received the "royal pardon." Even on that occasion he could not resist his usual impulse and it is credited related, while the President, himself manœuvring a dive, was submerged in the boat, the compressed air on which the ability to dive depends, leaked out and the pressure barely lasted long enough to bring Mr. Roosevelt, all unsuspecting, to the surface.

The Peace Pact

Rules formulated by deserted husband, which he said his eloping wife must follow if he forgave her when she returned:

She must promise that she will love none but me.

She must ask my forgiveness.

She must remain for a good part of her time at home, and not run around with other men when I think that she is at home.

What the deserted husband really did, according to the wife, after he had been trained by her:

He dropped on his knees and begged my forgiveness.

He said that he never had loved or would love anyone but me, and that he never believed I eloped.

He promised that he would not go out nights on any pretext whatever—not even to the club.

AMERICANS IN CZAR'S JAIL; U. S. ACTS PROMPTLY

MRS. W. E. WALLING (ANNA STRUNSKY), NOW IN RUSSIAN PRISON.

Strunsky Sisters of San Francisco Arrested in Russia on Charge of Aiding Revolutionary Movement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Secretary Root called Mr. Schuyler, charge of the American Embassy at St. Petersburg, regarding the case of William English Walling, the American, today, who was arrested there yesterday with his wife, formerly Anna Strunsky, of San Francisco, and Rosa Strunsky, her sister, for association with the Finnish Progressive Party. The Secretary's message was a short statement of the appeal upon which the American Embassy was expected to act for the relief of the persons arrested, so far as seemed proper, and was prompted by a telegram dated Indianapolis, Oct. 19, from William L. English, an uncle of Walling. The telegram contained a brief summary of the facts concerning the arrest as sent out in the press dispatches.

ARREST IN RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 21.—The Russian secret police have arrested William English Walling, late of the New York University Settlement, his wife, who is a novelist of some note, and who was, before her marriage, Miss Anna Strunsky of San Francisco, Cal. The wife's sister, Miss Rosa Strunsky, was also arrested. The arrests were made at the personal order of Colonel Krasnovich, chief of the Russian secret police, and were entirely unexpected. Miss Rosa was the first of the three to be placed under arrest. She had gone to the station with a number of friends, among whom were Anna Strunsky, the Finnish radical and three other Finnish revolutionaries.

APPEALS TO U. S. EMBASSY.

As soon as Walling heard of the arrest of his sister-in-law he hurried off to the American Embassy where, in the absence of the ambassador, he conferred with Secretary Schuyler, who advised him to quit Russia at once, taking his wife with him. In the meantime the secretary promised to intercede with the officials of the Russian government.

After leaving the embassy Walling returned to the Hotel de France. As he crossed the corridor he was met by a captain of police and twelve policemen. Walling and his wife were arrested. Kellogg Durand, an American, was also taken, but only temporarily detained.

PAPERS ARE SEIZED.

All the Wallings' papers were seized. Among them were a great number of pamphlets, most of them of a violent revolutionary character.

Walling asked that his wife be put in the same cell with him, but this was refused. Every effort was made to keep their whereabouts secret.

Rosa Strunsky was taken to a preliminary prison in the extreme east end of the city.

Walling was locked up in what is known as the exile prison, where those to be sent to Siberia are usually detained. Secretary Schuyler, on behalf of the American embassy, endeavored last night to obtain an explanation of the arrest of these Americans citizens, but his mission failed.

Rojestvensky, the chief jailer where Walling is under confinement, said both prisoners seemed to be undisturbed by their arrest.

"I believe," he said, "that they will be released and immediately expelled from the country."

LONG IN PERIL.

Walling has been in peril of arrest here for a long time, owing to his open sympathy and constant association with members of the violent revolutionary party. It is not probable that he was involved in any of their concrete plots against the government, but it is known that he was in intimate touch with the leaders of the Moscow rebellion on Christmas, 1905. At that time the Moscow police officials say they had obtained positive evidence that Walling was a contributor to the revolutionary treasury.

Mrs. Walling is well-known in California. She collaborated with Jack London in writing the "Kempton-Maine Letters," and was said at the time to have had something to do with the estrangement between London and his first wife. This belief was dispelled when London married Charmion Kittredge and Miss Strunsky wedded Walling.

Mrs. Walling is a graduate of Stanford, where she began her advocacy of socialism. She took a post graduate course at the State University, and was a leader in the artist-author Bohemian set in San Francisco.

complimentary to Miss Henshaw and Mr. Chickering. Covers will be laid for twenty-six, the guests including the members of the bride party and a number of friends of the girls whom Miss Henshaw has chosen to attend her. Miss Martha Chickering, Miss Ruth Houghton, Miss Katherine Brown, and Miss Florence Henshaw are the bridesmaids.

Miss Houghton's dinner will be a charming affair, for the young hostess is most successful in entertaining dinner table groups.

LUNCHEON.

The luncheon to be given on the thirty-first for Miss Henshaw will probably end the list of complimentary affairs for this much anticipated bride-to-be.

The bride and her family have decided that the final week shall be given over to rest and to the last of the preparations for the wedding. It seems a most wise innovation, for as a rule the bride and her party are tired out by the time that the great day comes. Miss Henshaw has made no engagements for the days between the first and the seventh, her wedding day.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Miss Marietta Havens is to entertain a group of girls at bridge on Thursday. Her guests are the members of a little club, organized for the pleasure of an occasional game.

Among the players are Miss Katherine Brown, Miss Ruth Houghton, Miss Rose Kales, Miss Mollie Mathes, Miss Sevilla Hayden, Miss Josephine Johnson, Miss Arline Johnson and Miss Lily Reed.

A GADSKI LUNCHEON.

Miss Jean Mickle of Berkeley was hostess at a pleasant affair on Thursday of last week, entertaining a party at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Duncan A. McDonald.

Ten covers were laid on the daintily appointed luncheon table, made most attractive with a profusion of violets.

After luncheon the party attended the concert given by Madam Gadecki in the Greek Theater.

OAKLAND CLUB.

Some interesting features enter into the arrangements for the Wednesday meeting of the Oakland Club. Mrs. E. M. North-Whitcomb, president of the Association of Pioneer Women of California, is to speak on early days in San Francisco and in Oakland. Mrs. Whitcomb lived through some interesting experiences in those early days, and she tells of them in a most fascinating manner.

The music for the afternoon will be furnished by Miss Laura M. Zarbo and Miss Emmabelle Zucker. Both are accomplished musicians, and they are now associated in a new method of teaching interpretation. The selections for this afternoon will illustrate the method that Miss Zarbo is developing.

Mrs. Armstrong, one of the literary members of the club, will read an original poem.

Mrs. Herman Sagehorn is chairman for the day. She is to be assisted by Mrs. F. R. Chadwick, Mrs. William Westphal, Miss Bertine Jurgens, Miss Anna Sagehorn, Mrs. George Samuels, Mrs. John Sanborn, Mrs. Joseph Sanders, Mrs. J. E. Sanford, Mrs. A. A. Sawyer, Mrs. G. Schammel, Mrs. W. A. Shrock, Mrs. J. M. Scotchler, Mrs. J. C. Shankland, Mrs. E. F. Shanklin, Mrs. Frank Shay, Mrs. E. W. Shoecraft, Miss Elizabeth Simpson, Mrs. S. J. Shi, Miss Nellie Sobst and a few others.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Captain and Mrs. Edwin P. Littlefield entertained a pleasant party of friends at their home on Myrtle street, on Friday evening, the occasion being the fortieth anniversary of their marriage.

Cards furnished the entertainment for the evening, twenty-five players assembling at the whist tables. The rooms were prettily decorated for the evening, the parlors in greens and the dining-room in red, the flowers and candlelight all of the red shade. The guests included a number of the old friends of Captain and Mrs. Littlefield. Congratulations and a supper were features of the evening.

"THE ROUND TABLE."

The ladies of the Round Table were entertained on Friday by their president, Mrs. Stuart Merrill, at her home in East Oakland. The papers for the afternoon were exceptionally good, and were very much enjoyed.

Later, during the social hour over the tea cups, plans for a Halloween party were discussed. Once a month the ladies of the Round Table entertain their knights, and the entertainment planned for this month will be novel and original.

AT DEL MONTE.

Guests at Del Monte this week from Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott, D. E. Bernay, Miss Regula Hildreth, Miss S. E. McNear and Miss Ernestine McNear.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapel Judson of Berkeley spent a few days at Del Monte this past week. Mr. Judson is a well-known California artist, and has been spending most of the summer in Yosemite.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McNear are still at Del Monte and were visited this week by their daughters, Miss S. E. McNear and Miss Ernestine McNear.

TEA.

Mrs. Walter Starr is to be hostess tomorrow at a tea to be given in honor of Mrs. Frank Richardson Wells (Jean Hush). A large number of guests will attend, for Mrs. Wells has lost none of her popularity in her absence and the Hush girls have always been great favorites in the local set.

Pretty decorations will add to the attractiveness of Mrs. Starr's charming home. Autumn flowers and foliage are to be used in all the rooms.

The receiving party will include Mrs. Starr and Mrs. Wells, the guest of honor, Miss Moore, Mrs. John Valentine, Miss A. A. Moore, Mrs. A. L. White and Miss Florence Hush.

FOR MISS KNOWLES.

Tomorrow is the day set for the tea given by Mrs. McClure Gregory and Miss Christine Lohse in honor of Miss Ruth Knowles and Mrs. C. T. Hutchinson. Miss Knowles' engagement to Henry Lord Chase was announced a week ago. Mrs. Hutchinson (Gertrude Allen), is one of the younger matrons in the local set. The two guests of honor and the two hostesses will make up the receiving party.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander is to be hostess at a meeting of the Fortnightly Club, an exclusive literary circle, which is to hold this week's meeting at the Claremont Country Club. The club holds many of its meetings in San Francisco, but there are many Oakland and Berkeley girls on its membership list, among them Miss Mabel Gray, Mrs. Charles R. Brown, Mrs. Olney, Mrs. Edward von Adelung, Mrs. Bartlett, Miss Bakewell, Mrs. Gilchrist, the Misses Wickson and Miss Kelly.

HOGAN-SHAW.

The marriage of Miss Harriet L. Hogan and George L. Shaw was one of the pretty church ceremonies of the week, occurring on Wednesday morning at the Sacred Heart Church, Fortieth and Grove streets.

The marriage service was read by the Rev. Father Lorgin at 7:30 in the morning. Only the members of the two families attended.

The bride wore a handsome tailored gown of pearl gray. She was attended by Miss G. Carter, George Williams, a close friend of the bridegroom, attended as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home. At noon Mr. and Mrs. Shaw departed on an extended trip through the South.

They will be at home after November first at their charming new bungalow, 372 Sixty-third street.

ORPHEUM PARTY.

Miss Etta Schrock, the little daughter of Mrs. W. A. Schrock, and Miss Alice Bickley, who is also a member of the Schrock household, entertained about thirty of their young friends at a theater party on Saturday afternoon. The young hostesses took their guests to the Orpheum, and the performance was greatly enjoyed. Among the guests were a number of the girls' friends who attend Miss Horton's school, and little Miss Goodfellow and one or two others from Miss Head's.

Mrs. W. A. Schrock and two friends chaperoned the party.

"BI-BI."

The first rehearsal of "Bi-Bi, a Comedy of Toyland," was held on Friday at Ethel's, and was highly satisfactory. The music is exceedingly pretty and the whole idea of the fantasy of toyland is most unusual and amusing.

The Fairy Queen, it appears, has decided to go out of business, as people no longer believe in fairies, but before retiring she decides to play one more prank upon a mortal.

Her choice falls upon Katie, the toy-maker's daughter, and while the girl sleeps, a spell is cast over her and over the toys in the shop. The toys come to life, and Katie, upon awakening, goes through a most wonderful series of experiences.

The comedy introduces a number of musical and spectacular features, and will give abundant opportunity for the use of local talent. Mrs. A. E. Nash, curator of the music section, is to have charge of this part of the preparations.

Mr. Rodgers will personally superintend the rehearsals. Three performances are to be given, on November 25, 26 and 27. The object of the club is to make enough money to pay for their new plant, which has been installed. The production has met with great success elsewhere, and the ladies hope for good fortune in their venture.

SEWING CLUB.

Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain is to be hostess at an informal afternoon affair, entertaining the members of a sewing club which meets at the homes of the various members. In the little circle are Mrs. B. E. Cornell, Mrs. A. H. Hill, Mrs. B. B. Huntley, Mrs. J. F. Pond, Mrs. Fred Taylor, Mrs. W. W. Crane, Mrs. Shearer, Mrs. Lord, Mrs. George B. M. Gray, and Mrs. F. A. Webster.

AT GLEN ELLEN.

Miss Dorothy Egbert will spend next week as the guest of Mrs. George (Ethel) at Villa Glen, the beautiful country place she has at Glen Ellen.

On and after January 1, 1908, the North German Lloyd will assume the exclusive control and management of the Mediterranean-Levant service, which has heretofore been conducted in connection with the German-Levant line. The North German Lloyd will add to the line their steamers "Bayren," "Sachsen" and "Preussen," each of 5500 tons and 4000 horsepower. These steamers will take their place in the Mediterranean-Levant service in January, 1908, and will run in connection with the steamships "Skutumpah" and "Therapia," leaving Marseilles or Genoa weekly and calling at Naples, the Piræus (Athens), Smyrna, Constantinople and Black Sea ports, thus offering an excellent opportunity for travelers to reach Greece and Constantinople.

LARGE CIRCULATION OF TRIBUNE IN THIS STATE

Editor Dargie Again on the Stand in the Spreckels Bank Suit Against Tribune.

The deposition of W. E. Dargie president of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE COMPANY, in the matter of the suit against that company by the First National Bank of San Francisco was resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock before Court Commissioner Clarence Crowell.

The defendant was represented by Attorney M. C. Chapman and George W. Reed. Charles F. Wheeler appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Dargie was on the stand. He produced a list showing the circulation of THE TRIBUNE in middle California.

"What do you mean?" asked Wheeler "by middle California."

"As far south as Gilroy and north as far as Red Bluff" was the answer.

"In the cities included between those cities, THE TRIBUNE is circulated by carrier."

"It is."

The witness also showed that THE TRIBUNE was circulated in nearly all the cities of California by mail.

Wheeler then asked about the circulation of THE TRIBUNE in Oregon and Washington and the witness replied that copies of the paper were sent to all the large cities in those states as also in Arizona.

Is there a state in the union in which your paper does not circulate?" asked Wheeler.

This was objected to by Mr. Chapman but the witness answered:

I don't know.

The witness then stated that he had not come over his stockholders books since the last session.

Mr. Chapman asked if Wheeler had provided his direct examination.

Mr. Wheeler said that he had unless in going over the transcript he should find that there were some subjects which might require elaboration.

Mr. Dargie said that the books sought by Wheeler could be examined at THE TRIBUNE office.

The question of adjourning then came up.

Mr. Wheeler said he had to go to Los Angeles tomorrow night.

Mr. Chapman wanted to know if they could not adjourn from THE TRIBUNE office.

Mr. Wheeler said that that would be satisfactory to him.

Mr. Chapman however stated that he did not consent to an adjournment because tomorrow morning.

Attorney G. W. Reed referred to the fact that counsel for the defendant had been given a great deal of annoyance.

Mr. Chapman set forth the fact that counsel for the plaintiff had refused a continuance to the defendant and that during the defendant's absence in the suit the personal origin of the plaintiff.

PARKING DOGS CAUSE APPEAL

Citizen of Fruitvale Asks Supervisors if Nuisance Cannot Be Quelled.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning the attention of the body was called to certain barking dogs in a communication from George D. Hand of 3334 Forest street, Fruitvale, as follows:

"What relief from the continual barking of a neighbor's dogs has a resident and property owner of this place? We have stood the annoyance for some time, but no effort on the part of the owner has been made to abate it. It has become almost unbearable and I appeal to you for such relief as may be rendered."

The matter was referred to the District Attorney and Supervisor Bridge. It is expected that they will have located the offending dogs and administer the necessary corrective.

PROBATIONERS CAUSE WORRY

Cases of Alleged Highwaymen Govear and Melo Set for Trial.

One of the largest crowds which ever assembled in the Superior Court of Alameda county heard the calling of the criminal calendar in Department Five this morning. Both Judge Melvin and Judge Ellsworth took part in the various hearings, while District Attorney Brown and his assistant, John F. Burpee, represented the people.

The following cases were continued for one week by consent: John Smith, Louis Nagle and Herbert Logan charged with theft of an automobile; Arthur Tabb (negro) burglary; E. Martindale, preferred November 2nd; Guyana (negro) assault with deadly weapon; Pauline Lyons (negro) grand larceny two weeks to be sentenced.

FORGERY TRIAL.
J. H. Russell charged with forgery, was given until October 24th when he will be tried for the crime.

John Govear and George Melo two alleged highwaymen were represented by individual counsel, Attorney Langdon appearing for Govear and Judge Frick for Melo. The former asked for a trial on December 2nd, while Judge Frick preferred November 20th.

Both were granted by the court.

REFUSED PROBATION.
Louis Berthold, accused of stealing a horse and buggy from his employer was rejected by Probation Officer Ruess as unfit for probation. His trial was ordered for two weeks time in order to hear from Switzerland where he has written asking that Berthold be taken back home.

James S. Carey, accused over a year ago of theft, is proving an unsatisfactory probationer. Ruess stated that the charges have been constant trouble besides having acquired the cocaine habit and becoming generally depraved.

The case was continued one week, during which time an effort will be made to have Carey returned to his parents in Boston.

Joseph Gerhardt charged with burglary was granted a continuance of one day when he will be brought to trial. District Attorney Ruess stated that he was already in trouble in that he was charged with another first degree burglary he entered against Gerhardt.

Ben Shapero charged with receiving stolen goods was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney.

Pietro Diamico, who must answer to a charge of assaulting P. Guarnetti with intent to kill will be tried on October 14th. The court appointed George H. Richardson to defend the prisoner.

The conclusion of the calendar Judge Ellsworth proceeded with the Seull trial while Judge Melvin retired to Department Three where he opened the trial of Bernard Taylor charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon his father-in-law.

WILL EXAMINE DEAD BODIES
There was a conference this morning between the members of the Board of Supervisors and Dr. Long who represents the Federal government in the bubonic plague question in this State.

It was decided to secure the services of a certain physician who has had experience in the handling of cases of this disease in the Philippines. This physician arrived with the train last night. It will be his duty to examine until further notice every death in this county outside of cities for the purpose of determining whether or not death was occasioned by the disease in question. It is claimed that it is almost impossible to diagnose a case of this kind when the patient is afflicted and examination after death is the only way in which the identity of the disease can be satisfactorily determined.

SUED AS WIDOW, BUT SAYS SHE IS MARRIED
Mrs. Sarah Silverman, through nervousness lost her power of speech this morning when testifying in Judge Quinn's court in a suit brought against her by the Dean Law and Collection Agency on behalf of P. H. Pinkerton, a contractor and builder. The amount of the suit is $300 alleged to be due Pinkerton for repairs on Mrs. Silverman's notion store on Grove street.

Mrs. Silverman was sued as a widow but stated upon the witness stand that she had a husband, Morris Silverman living in Dallas, Texas. The law provides that both husband and wife should be sued as co-defendants in this action and therefore her husband will be served with summons to appear in Judge Quinn's court as soon as he can arrive from Texas. Attorney Mervyn Samuelson asked that the case be taken off the calendar and read for trial when Silverman arrives. The motion was granted.

ACCUSED OF GAMBLING
Two boys, Edgar Palmer and Samuel Hopp were taken before Judge Samuelson this morning to answer the charge of gambling. They were found shooting craps and were placed in the city prison by the police. Probation Officer Ruess appeared for them and asked that they be released on their own recognizance. The court placed their bail at $10 and told them to appear before him Friday morning for examination.

NAKED EYE SOON TO SEE COMET RUSHING TO EARTH

BERKELEY, Oct. 21.—The new comet, discovered by a young astronomer of Wisconsin rapidly approaching the earth, according to a bulletin issued from the Lick Observatory. The approach to the earth of the fiery monster will continue until about November 3, when its distance from the earth will be about 3,000,000 miles or about 150 times as far away as the moon is from the earth. On the same date the comet will be distant from the sun about 120,000,000 miles.

When discovered the comet could be seen with an ordinary pair of opera glasses and on November 3 according to the astronomers it should be visible to the naked eye as its theoretical brightness will then be three times more than at the time it is discovered.

GEOCENTRIC MOTION
Owing to the comet's close approach to the earth its geocentric motion will increase rapidly. In twenty days from October 19 to November 3 it will sweep across the sky from a point about 16 degrees southeast of the star Procyon to a point about 5 degrees east of Aldebaran.

A point of particular interest in connection with this comet is that when it crosses the plane of the ecliptic about November 3 the earth will be only about 7 degrees west of the comet's node as seen from the sun but owing to the greater distance of the comet from the sun it cannot at its closest approach come nearer to the earth than about 35 million miles.

The comet rose on October 19 (last Saturday) nearly due east about 1 a. m. It will rise earlier from day to day. On November 3 it will rise at 7:30 p. m.

MANY TO VISIT ST. MARY FAIR
Last Week of Successful Fete to Be Celebrated With Splendid Program.

This is the last week of St. Mary's fair which is now being held in the hall at Eighth and Grove streets. The attendance during this week promises to be large, as special parties have arranged to visit the bazaar each night during the week.

A splendid program of entertainment has been arranged for each evening. Tuesday night will be the "at home" day of the members of Company N of the L. C. C. On their program Green and Petrocelli will give a comedy sketch, Ambrose Callaghan will render a baritone solo and Smith and Preston are down for ragtime specialties.

Thursday night Mrs. J. T. Moran's booth will give a reception. James M. Ward, the well known actor of the city with a clever company will be among the talented people who will appear.

Friday and Saturday evenings the drawings for prizes will take place and the lucky winners will be allowed to take their prizes home.

WILL NOT USE TRACK STALLS
C. C. McCafferty applied to the Board of Public Works this morning for permission to stake a stable with an addition of six stalls at 572 Thirtieth street. The board of the public works, Dr. Leggo and Mr. Fannin, who McCafferty has been handling on the circuits for the last few years, then refused the application.

Harriet, during the season on the Emeryville track the two favorites have been housed on the grounds of the California Jockey club but for some reason the owner of the track, what McCafferty's reason for the change is no one seems to know.

CUT TO PIECES UNDER WHEELS OF STREET CAR
Manuel de Silva, a Portuguese laborer employed on the ranch of P. H. and A. L. Stone, San Leandro road, met a fearful death beneath a southbound trolley car late last evening. The man jumped from the wrong side of a northbound car falling directly under the wheels of car 31, which was heading south on the same track. He was terribly cut about the head and arms and was instantly killed. The body was taken to Morgan's undertaking parlors and later to the morgue.

ALLEGES BLIND MAN SLASHED HIS ABDOMEN
William Curry, a painter living at 543 Thirtieth street was taken to the emergency hospital early Sunday morning with a three inch gash in his abdomen. Curry said he had been indicted by Thomas George, a blind man, in an encounter in a saloon at Thirtieth street and San Pablo avenue.

Curry said another man jokingly threatened to take George, the blind man, by the nose and that George, angry at the remark, had slashed Curry's abdomen with a knife. Curry was removed to the emergency hospital and George was discharged and arrested.

George lost his sight two years ago in a blast in a mine. He said he was an inmate of the State home for the blind at Thirtieth street and Telegraph avenue.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION
An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States District Court today against the firm of Otto Heinze & Company, brokers whose suspension from the Stock Exchange was announced last week after they had refused to accept a block of United Copper stock purchased for them by the firm of Gross & Kleberg.

The petitioning creditors are William H. Rothman, assignee of the firm of Gross & Kleberg, who has an assigned claim for $25,000, and Frank A. Branby, who has an assigned claim from Herzfeld & Stern for $29,000.

They allege that Otto Heinze & Company made preferential payments to the Merchants National Bank of $2,000,000 of assigned securities and also other preferential payments which aggregated about $100,000.

SECURITIES ASSIGNED
It is also alleged that valuable securities were assigned to the bank to secure antecedent indebtedness and because of an anticipated suspension of the firm by the United States court on Friday.

The clearing house committee at a meeting today at the Mercantile National Bank advised the acceptance of the assignments of eight directors of the bank. This was done and the new directors selected. The other vacancies will be filled later.

GERMAN BUTCHER IS MISSING FROM HOME
Charles Wyman, a German butcher residing at 957 Jefferson street has been missing from his home since Wednesday night. His wife reported his disappearance to the police but no trace of the man's present whereabouts has been learned. He had about $60 in his purse at the time he left home and Mrs. Wyman is inclined to believe that her husband is the victim of foul play.

Wyman is described as a large man weighing about 155 pounds with black hair and heavy mustache. He is of middle age and is popular in the German community of the city.

ELMHURST PAIR WED AT SEA

Want Exciting Marriage and Ceremony Performed on Wave Rocked Launch.

Miss Mary Perry twenty-three years old and Harry McBride aeronaut twenty-eight years old were married on a gasoline launch outside the Heads yesterday with a Wagnerian wind whipping up the sea and furnishing gusty music for their wedding march.

Captain Henry Park standing on the quarter deck with Bible in hand pronounced the pair man and wife as the bride clasped the groom and tried to steady herself in the face of a gale that chased a worried line of sea and clouded exciting it to the west.

WANTED EXCITING WEDDING
It was an exciting wedding, said Mrs. McBride, but was just the thing I was looking for. My husband and myself came from Elmhurst where we both live to get married at sea as we concluded that we didn't want a tame and uninteresting ceremony in a church ashore.

My husband has been an aeronaut for many years and has sailed over most parts of the country in dirigibles and balloons. He at first suggested that we be married in a balloon when I told him I wanted something novel in the way of a wedding. I didn't like the idea of running the chance of having something go wrong just in the middle of a ceremony in the air, however, and we compromised on a sea marriage.

STEALS SILK WAIST
ALAMEDA, Oct. 21.—Charles Remolina of 1535 Pacific avenue complained to the police that his home had been entered during the absence of the family yesterday and $3 and a silk waist stolen. The police are endeavoring to find out how the thief entered the house.

INJURED CHAUFFEUR TAKEN AWAY
and Identity Remains a Mystery.

In a collision between a Hayward west-bound car and a large motor omnibus yesterday morning at the corner of Fourteenth street and Nineteenth avenue the chauffeur was injured and was picked up by a passing automobile to be taken to the emergency hospital. However, he was not taken there and his present whereabouts are a mystery to the police.

The patrol wagon was sent to the scene of the collision and on the way met the automobile containing the injured man. The driver of the car which bore the license number 1161 said he would take his charge to the hospital but as yet he has not been seen there.

The form of the collision was terrific and the big machine was completely wrecked. The trolley car was practically unharmed but the passengers were thrown into the air when the motor omnibus applied the air brake. None of the passengers were hurt.

According to the list of automobiles licensed and sent out from the office of the secretary of state, the automobile 1161 was the property of W. F. Farnell of Napa. The wrecked machine was left in the road at the curb nobody having come forward to take charge of it.

SCREAMS OF MAID PUT BURGLAR TO FLIGHT
The home of Charles J. Rodolph vice president of the Union Savings Bank was entered early yesterday morning by an intruder but who was frightened away by the screams of the maid. The Rodolph home is located at 1065 Sixth avenue. The burglar was found to have gained an entrance through a parrot window and had made his way into the dining room when his movements were detected by the maid. She cried "Wiles there" and when no answer came she screamed in terror. The burglar ran to the window and dropped to the lawn below, escaping.

BOARDS CAR ON INJURED SIDE AND IS INJURED
While attempting to board a Telegraph avenue car at Fourth and Broadway streets Wednesday afternoon, a woman was crushed yesterday morning from the step by a car from the opposite direction and seriously injured. He was removed to the Emergency Hospital where Dr. W. H. Brown diagnosed his injuries. Very convulsions of the left hip and thigh and abrasions of the entire left side. Webb attempted to board the street car on the wrong side, not seeing in approaching car. The motorist was unable to stop in time to save collision with Webb's body.

And Yet It Is the Same He Was Smoking With So Much Relish After Dinner, Last Night. Quit of the Very Same Box, Too.

It isn't the cigar—it's the stomach.

Every smoker has experienced this peculiar condition of the stomach and liver the result usually of imperfect digestion of food. And the blame is usually put on the cigar and not where it belongs.

Such men are usually high livered, hard workers mentally living under high pressure and high draught and it doesn't take a great deal to disorder the stomach or render the liver torpid.

They should make it a practice to use some tried and reliable remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets that will aid Nature and not force it and will take care of the sudden attacks of acute indigestion.

The use of these tablets is not to be confounded with the patent medicine habit. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a patent medicine but are composed of the very elements which nature provides the healthy stomach to do the work of digestion—pepsin, dextrin, gold, seal, etc. There is no secret in their preparation—they are absolutely pure and therefore all the world uses them.

No matter how disordered the stomach may be, it will right itself if given the help of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The best food where the stomach can't give the abused stomach and intestines a rest and offer renewed strength to the worn out glands and muscles.

Brain workers can rely on Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no matter how tense or strained. All druggists carry them in the fifty-cent packages or if you prefer a free trial package can be had by sending your name and address today. F. A. Stuart, Company, 160 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

ELMHURST PAIR WED AT SEA

Want Exciting Marriage and Ceremony Performed on Wave Rocked Launch.

Miss Mary Perry twenty-three years old and Harry McBride aeronaut twenty-eight years old were married on a gasoline launch outside the Heads yesterday with a Wagnerian wind whipping up the sea and furnishing gusty music for their wedding march.

Captain Henry Park standing on the quarter deck with Bible in hand pronounced the pair man and wife as the bride clasped the groom and tried to steady herself in the face of a gale that chased a worried line of sea and clouded exciting it to the west.

WANTED EXCITING WEDDING
It was an exciting wedding, said Mrs. McBride, but was just the thing I was looking for. My husband and myself came from Elmhurst where we both live to get married at sea as we concluded that we didn't want a tame and uninteresting ceremony in a church ashore.

My husband has been an aeronaut for many years and has sailed over most parts of the country in dirigibles and balloons. He at first suggested that we be married in a balloon when I told him I wanted something novel in the way of a wedding. I didn't like the idea of running the chance of having something go wrong just in the middle of a ceremony in the air, however, and we compromised on a sea marriage.

STEALS SILK WAIST
ALAMEDA, Oct. 21.—Charles Remolina of 1535 Pacific avenue complained to the police that his home had been entered during the absence of the family yesterday and $3 and a silk waist stolen. The police are endeavoring to find out how the thief entered the house.

INJURED CHAUFFEUR TAKEN AWAY
and Identity Remains a Mystery.

In a collision between a Hayward west-bound car and a large motor omnibus yesterday morning at the corner of Fourteenth street and Nineteenth avenue the chauffeur was injured and was picked up by a passing automobile to be taken to the emergency hospital. However, he was not taken there and his present whereabouts are a mystery to the police.

The patrol wagon was sent to the scene of the collision and on the way met the automobile containing the injured man. The driver of the car which bore the license number 1161 said he would take his charge to the hospital but as yet he has not been seen there.

The form of the collision was terrific and the big machine was completely wrecked. The trolley car was practically unharmed but the passengers were thrown into the air when the motor omnibus applied the air brake. None of the passengers were hurt.

According to the list of automobiles licensed and sent out from the office of the secretary of state, the automobile 1161 was the property of W. F. Farnell of Napa. The wrecked machine was left in the road at the curb nobody having come forward to take charge of it.

SCREAMS OF MAID PUT BURGLAR TO FLIGHT
The home of Charles J. Rodolph vice president of the Union Savings Bank was entered early yesterday morning by an intruder but who was frightened away by the screams of the maid. The Rodolph home is located at 1065 Sixth avenue. The burglar was found to have gained an entrance through a parrot window and had made his way into the dining room when his movements were detected by the maid. She cried "Wiles there" and when no answer came she screamed in terror. The burglar ran to the window and dropped to the lawn below, escaping.

While attempting to board a Telegraph avenue car at Fourth and Broadway streets Wednesday afternoon, a woman was crushed yesterday morning from the step by a car from the opposite direction and seriously injured. He was removed to the Emergency Hospital where Dr. W. H. Brown diagnosed his injuries. Very convulsions of the left hip and thigh and abrasions of the entire left side. Webb attempted to board the street car on the wrong side, not seeing in approaching car. The motorist was unable to stop in time to save collision with Webb's body.

THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE GRAND $10,000 PRIZE CONTEST

One Vote for.....

CUT THIS OUT.

NOT GOOD AFTER NOV. 12, 1907.

SPECIAL VOTE OFFER BE MADE. THIS IS AN EXCELLENT CHANCE TO GET $100 IN EASY MONEY.

A candidate for the grand prize of the $1500 Rumber touring car in THE TRIBUNE'S Great $10,000 Prize Contest wishes to say that if she could just get the use of the automobile during the balance of the campaign she would have no difficulty in making good her title to the machine.

The intention fell on an unheeding ear for the contest editor has no discretion in the matter—or sympathy either, for if one of the contestants were to be provided with an automobile the others would have to be similarly treated and that would put the automobile purveyors out of business.

The letter indicates that this particular contestant is making a personal campaign and that she is getting votes after the only fashion that brings results—by going after them.

Returns from all over the territory concerned in the contest show that the campaign is developing politicians. The stimulus of a prize that is worth $1500 is taking hold of the contestants and their friends, and some unique methods are being used in some of the districts. The value of the club is being put in practice, and the contestants are appealing to the hustling candidates and that there will be effective club work done is not to be doubted. It is too much to expect that there will be thoughtful processions, with banners and fireworks, but practical work will be done in a little less demonstrative style.

USES THE TELEPHONE.

One clever young woman with a whole lot of friends is using the telephone in getting votes. She spends a good deal of time calling up her friends and telling them how she needs votes. School children are doing good work, for some of the contestants and the country postmasters who have a peek at postal cards of how some candidates are working. The systematic canvass of business districts will probably be a feature of the last week or so of the contest. Of course the contestants are not telling what methods they are using, but THE TRIBUNE will have some stories to tell when it is all over.

COUPONS IN PACKAGES.

The vote coupons must be tied in packages or placed in envelopes. It is advised that the contestants should cashed coupons in the box.

MANNER OF VOTING.

A coupon good for one vote will be published in each issue of THE TRIBUNE, until the end of the contest. This coupon, if clipped and sent to the Contest Manager of THE TRIBUNE, will count as one vote for the contestant named thereon.

There is another and better way of acquiring votes and that is on subscriptions.
Votes will be given on all paid-in-advance
subscriptions as follows:

Three months, $1.95.....100 extra votes
Six months, $3.50.....200 extra votes
One year, $6.50.....400 extra votes
Two years, $11.50.....800 extra votes
Three years, $16.50.....1200 extra votes

Three hundred votes are also issued on a classified advertisement coupon book, which contains coupons worth $2.50, but sells for only $2.

CLASSIFIED AD COUPONS.

An innovation in voting contests is the issuing of votes on classified advertisements. A coupon book containing coupons to the value of $2.50 is sold for $2. This is a saving of 20 cents on each dollar, and will prove a great investment for those who advertise in THE TRIBUNE. Such as "Rooms to Rent," "For Sale," "For Lease,"
"Rooms to Rent," etc. These classified advertisement coupons can be used at the time the books are bought or at a later date as may be desired.

TO TRY SUNDAY LAW BREAKERS

Actors and Merchants by Hundreds to Be Arrested in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21.—A list of names of several hundred persons who yesterday violated the law against working on Sunday is being prepared today for presentation tomorrow to the grand jury. Indictments by the wholesale are expected.

The list includes actors, actresses, theatrical managers and actresses and storekeepers. The theatrical managers are preparing to give bond for the members of their respective companies after they are arrested, as it is believed they will be the "thunderbolt" of the week.

Judge W. H. Wallace of the Criminal Court, who started the crusade, said today:

"I shall expect the jury to do its duty."

GIRL ACCUSES MILLIONAIRE

William Astor Chanler Drawn Into Blackmail Case Against Child's Brother.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—William Astor Chanler, millionaire politician, has been drawn into the blackmail case which resulted in the arrest of Eliza Voceks on the complaint of Raymond Hitchcock, the actor.

Eliza Voceks, 12 years old, the prisoner's sister, yesterday told her mother a story in which she accused both Chanler and Hitchcock.

Voceks was arrested in Hitchcock's dressing-room Saturday night after the actor had paid him $1000 in bills and a note for $1500 while hidden in the closet.

According to the police, Voceks has admitted that she had told her mother from Chanler. At the time of the arrest in the actor's dressing-room Voceks was repeating to Hitchcock what purported to be the accusations of Eliza Voceks, whose narrative relates to a midnight automobile trip made to the residence of the millionaire.

MILLIONAIRE ACCUSED.

Voceks stated last night that he had made repeated attempts to see Chanler and Hitchcock, but although he had obtained several interviews with the actor he had never been able to see the millionaire.

The story that Voceks was calling to Hitchcock's attention in the presence of the police had to do with a case that came up in court on Oct. 20, when Agent Pizarro of the Children's Society arranged for a wardenship over the girl.

TELLER RELEASED.

Voceks when seen at the West Side prison yesterday said that she had made public that it was for Eliza's sake that she went to Hitchcock after a found to be the millionaire.

Nothing I did was for my own benefit," Frank O. Thornberg, assistant paying teller of the Metropolitan Bank, said at the same time as Voceks, was released at a hearing yesterday morning.
Voceks had been held in jail for a further hearing on Thursday.

Thornberg is a young man and the sole survivor of a family of six who lived in the neighborhood where he resides.

Voceks' mother says her daughter told her Hitchcock coaxed her and another girl to enter an automobile. They were taken to a place where they were given a champagne dinner and were not permitted to go home.

Voceks' mother says she told her daughter to tell the truth.

ASCENT OF TWIN PEAKS BY WHITE STEAMER

It was a hard, wild ride that William Simmons made yesterday on a White Steamer. Twin Peaks, the almost inaccessible spot beyond San Francisco has his goal and his object was to get there in the shortest possible time. Moreover, there was a previous record over a portion of that distance and he wanted that record.

The previous time was 2 min.
20 seconds from Clayton street and Par-nassus avenue up to Burnham cottage.
Not 100 yards or so beyond this point the road ends and one must map out his own course to the further of the two peaks.

At racing speed the car shot up the initial ascent. Up and up it went, talking turns in a dare devil fashion and when the car reached the Burnham cottage the timers watch showed 1:55.

With never a pause Simmons flew up the mountain and reached the base of the second peak and then with the activity of a mountain goat clambered up the remaining distance.

When the car finally came to a standstill at the very summit of the peak the timers watch showed 2:05 from the starting point. These times, by the way, were W. H. B. Fowler, Douglas Erskine and
R. R. Hommedieu.

The first man up Mount Diablo in a car now holds the record up Twin Peaks, an ascent to a point which is not likely to be approached in a good while to come.

There were some interesting experiences in connection with the trip. The road was so rough that one side of the hood was torn off before the car much more than got started. A little further on came the other side of the hood and the car was again torn off.

The racking of the car loosened up the exhaust pipe to the condenser and when the trip was ended, the faces of the two passengers were so spattered with oil as to be hardly recognizable.

The descent was made straight over the peak down the hill and in some places the descent was more precipitous than the ascent. With wheels tightly locked by both brakes the car still slipped in many places and the occupants were decidedly glad when they reached the bottom again.

GREAT SHOW AT ORPHEUM

Vassar Girls Are on the Bill and Capture the Audience.

The Vassar Girls have come, they have been seen and they have conquered.
Two mighty crowds at the Oakland Orpheum yesterday gazed upon the Vassar girls, listened to the beautiful music they evolved from horns and drums and other instruments, watched with rapid attention the wonderful electric dances of the Vassar maidens, and then departed, saying: "The Vassar girls may not be real college 'co-eds', but they will do on any stage in all this broad land."

The girls' Vassar dances are pretty.
They can sing. They can play. They can dance. That is a good deal to begin with. When there is added to this combination of accomplishments the use of a lot of elaborate scenery and electric lighting effects, with a master hand working each and every detail, the result is extraordinary. That is exactly what occurred last night when the Vassar girls were on. Something extraordinary happened. In the opinion of the crowd it was the greatest act yet shown at the Oakland Orpheum, and the applause that followed the end of the "turn" was of the roof-raising variety.

Law Hawkins, the famous old mistrel king, was there, and his stories convinced the audience. All over town today people are repeating his story about the woman in the insane asylum who was beating the "moon" with her record of innocent swear words. They are all telling the story, but none of them, of course, can tell it like Law Hawkins does, and it is only one of Hawkins big budget of fun provoking stuff.

The Vassar girls are all good.
One wonders when this field of acrobatic comedy will be worked out and exhausted. There seem to be possibilities, however, as yet undeveloped, and the Teddy trio have developed a few. They are funny, and of rare experience as acrobats.

Miss Inez McCauley made good in a brilliant sketch called "The Unexpected."
The sketch bristles with comical situation and witty lines and the actress and her support were thoroughly adequate.

Madame Bartholdi's trained canteens repeat their amazing performances. Mueller and Mueller sing "Love Me and the World is Mine," and have other song material. Scott and Wilson, the acrobatic comedians, and the Christie duo, with a new picture of the Victoria falls on the Zambesi river round out the big bill.

HEAD POUNDED BY MOTORMAN

Officer Witnesses Blow With Controller and Rushes to Rescue of Victim.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Only the prompt action of Policeman McCue of the Potrero Station saved William Guern from death or serious injury at the hands of John Keulsky, an enraged motorman, at the corner of Twentieth and Kentucky streets at 1 o'clock this morning.

Just how the trouble started is not known, but it is thought that an argument arose on car No. 1137 of the Elg-teenth and Kentucky streets line over the payment of a fare, and that Guern used offensive language to the motorman, which so enraged him that he hit the man over the head with the reverse side of a controller.

The incident occurred when the car had stopped at the Twentieth street crossing, and Officer McCue saw Motorman Keul-sky strike the man once. The policeman sprang on the car and intercepted the motorman's arm before he could again descend upon the head of his victim, who had been completely stunned by the first blow.

Guern was removed to his home where his wounds were dressed by a physician and Keulsky, the motorman, was booked at the city prison on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

their lives. When finally overpowered it took the combined efforts of Sergeant Beck and four policemen to get him to the Receiving Hospital.

Here another terrible struggle ensued and it was only after fifteen minutes of hard work that Steward Borchert got the lunatic into straps and soothed his disordered brain with opium.

This morning, when Borchert was attempting to quiet the man, Peterson sank his teeth into the steward's hand, inflicting a deep bite. Borchert hurriedly applied carbolic acid to the wounds and does not fear any serious results. Peterson will be examined tomorrow morning if it is possible to take him into court. In the meantime sleep at the Hospital is impossible, as Peterson never stops shrieking except from sheer exhaustion.

STRONG BOX YIELDS $310 TO BURGLAR

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—J. Bucholtz of 1555 Steiner street reported to the police this morning that his store had been entered through a rear window and $310.00, which he had in a strong box, had been taken by burglars some time between midnight and 6 o'clock this morning.

Bucholtz suspects a porter employed in a saloon nearby, and two detectives have been detailed by Captain Kelly to make an investigation.

HARD TIMES IN KANSAS.

The old grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today, although a citizen of Goddard, Kan., has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered.
He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could not get any relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than a bottle to completely cure me. The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered.
Guaranteed by Osmond Bros. drug stores,
Seventh and Broadway streets, and Washington streets, 502 and 512. Trial bottle free."

ROOSEVELT'S AT VICKSBURG

Boats of All Kinds Form Escort to President.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Oct. 21.—President Roosevelt arrived here at 1 p. m. His approach was heralded by the blowing of whistles on all of the steam craft in the harbor and the factories in the vicinity of the river. He landed soon afterward and proceeded to the courthouse, where he delivered an address.

THOUSANDS PRESENT.

Excursion trains on all railroads arrived here today with crowds of visitors who joined in Vicksburg's welcome to President Roosevelt this afternoon.
Washington street and other thoroughfares are decorated with flags and bun-tings, and everywhere large pictures of the President are in evidence.

RIVER PARADE.

President Roosevelt reached Delta, La., at 1 o'clock, where a reception committee met the President and escorted him to Vicksburg. The river parade was the most picturesque affair of its kind ever seen here. Every type of craft available was pressed into use and followed the steamboat Belle of the Bends, on which were the President and party.

Arriving at Vicksburg the President was driven about the city. Half an hour was spent in visiting the national cemetery. The day is clear and cool.

S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

Whenever a sore or ulcer refuses to heal it is because the blood is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which corrupts and pollutes the circulation. Nothing is more trying than a non-healing, chronic old ulcer. The very fact that it resists all external applications, and ordinary treatments, is good reason for alarm, for the same germ which produces cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble be from any inherited taint. Surface treatment cannot reach the trouble—the blood is at fault and must be purified before a cure can be hoped for. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind.
It is a perfect blood purifier—one that goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all impurities, poisons and taints. The ulcer can never heal while the blood discharges into it the noxious matter with which it is infected, but when S. S. S. has rid the blood of this cause and freshened and built up the circulation the sore will heal naturally, and of its own accord. S. S. S. begins at the bottom and heals the place as it should be healed and makes a permanent and lasting cure. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any special medical advice desired will be sent free to all who write.
